

Improvement Plan For Streets to Be Given to the Public

By ROBERT E. HOYER
(Mercury Staff Writer)

A detailed plan of Pottstown's $750,000 street improvement bond issue will be distributed to organizations throughout the borough.

Council's highway-sewer committee voted last night to recommend the plan drafted by Solicitor C. Edmund Wells to council at the Oct. 13 meeting.

The eight-point outline of the bond issue was accepted by seven members of the committee with a minimum of argument and bickering.

New Doehler Plant to Get 3 Machines

By next week three aluminum casting machines will be operating at the new Doehler-Jarvis corporation plant, Bramcote, West Pottsgrove township.

Plant Manager Howard Bartholomew last night called the minor operation "a move to try out new ideas rather than a production operation."

Although there will be three machines in operation, only casting operators have been assigned to the new plant. There are no inspectors or cleaners at the site.

The first week in November approximately eight casting machines will be operating at the new plant which will include only aluminum machines.

IN THE present plant 50 aluminum machines operate three shifts. Also there are 32 white metal machines. Present plans for the mechanics of the issue. But the Bramcote plant call for 32 aluminum machines at full operation.

Bartholomew said it will be some time next year before a new transfer trolley, the only machine of its type in the world, will be placed into operation.

The trolley will transfer casting machines to the die shop from the casting room. In the die shop the die-casting operation will be carried out.

This plan is expected to prove much more efficient than the die-casting plan now employed. Under the present plan dies are taken from the die shop to the machines.

Company officials predict the trolley will prove a time saver.

Old Tool House Nearly Razed

The one-story erection tool house which stood next to the office building of Bethlehem Steel company on South Heim street is 90 percent razed, H. Lewis Williams, manager of the works, said yesterday.

Williams said the remaining rubble will be cleared within a week. He reported the facilities brought a portion of their fall of the demolished building will be transferred to a similar building for now under construction at the plant in a more convenient location.

Knights of Columbus Lose Home Dedication Speaker

A stroke of bad luck last night 300 council members, K of C of left Father Balj Council 1192, officials from Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Bethlehem and DuBois, Pa., without a speaker for the Oct. 12 dedication of its new home at 268 King street.

Members of the program committee meeting last night learned the Rev. Thomas Conney, the scheduled speaker, will be in a hospital for an eye operation Columbus Day, the date of the dedication.

A past district deputy in Philadelphia, however, is arranging for another speaker. The committee is to learn the replacement's identity today.

The committee, headed by Grand Knight William O. Smith, is anticipating the attendance of

99th—And Still Healthy

Ira J. Russell, Gravel pike, Graterford, triumphantly holds the 99th pint of blood he has contributed during his 16-years service as a donor. Shown congratulating the husky 38-year-old laborer is Mrs. L. Baril, Philadelphia, one of the five nurses who manned the bloodmobile equipment during its visit to the YWCA yesterday. Russell hopes to appear on a television program after making his next blood donation.

Blood Donors Arrive Despite Bad Weather

Neither rain, nor hail, nor dark and angry skies deterred Pottstown area citizens from keeping 30 volunteers from Pottstown appointments with the bloodmobile yesterday.

Not even the World's Series kept the 202 determined donors away, but some of them demanded that a radio be set up in the YWCA gymnasium along with the medical equipment. Mary Ann Mills, secretary of the local Red Cross, gladly accommodate them by bringing her own set into the gym.

"We collected 158 pints—eight pints over our quota," said Mrs. J. Robert Gray, publicity director of the Red Cross, last night. "I think many donors registered after reading in The Mercury about the bloodmobile's visit."

"Twenty-nine of the donors were people who just walked in without having registered beforehand," she added.

THE BLOODMOBILE, manned by two drivers and five nurses from Philadelphia in charge of a Philadelphia physician, Dr. Joseph Levy, set up for operation in the

'Teen-Age Plans Start at YMCA

Charles F. Fegley, boy's work secretary at the Pottstown YMCA, and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Heath, 53 Edgewood street, made tentative plans yesterday to begin a "teen-age club program under the sponsorship of the YMCA."

Fegley said Mrs. Heath was the only individual who appeared at yesterday's meeting which was open to all interested persons.

He reported that they agreed to discuss further the possibility of forming Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y organizations at another meeting Oct. 10 when more persons interested in the "teen-age program could be present. The organizations that Fegley hopes to have formed are na-

Congressman Urges Cuts To Keep Dollar's Integrity

By ED ZUMACH

"If we really want to preserve the integrity of the dollar, we must cut Government expenditures," a member of Congress' committee on banking and currency told the Pottstown Rotary club and its Ladies' Night guests in the Elks home last night.

PAUL MARCHER will be toastmaster at the 2 p. m. ceremony, which the Rev. William M. Begley, council chaplain and rector of St. (Continued on Page Twenty-four)

Wind, Rain Lash Pottstown; Tenants Get 'Phone, Electric Service Hit First Hope to Avoid Eviction

Wind and rain swept the Pottstown area yesterday afternoon in a sudden fury which left trees uprooted, electric wires broken and telephones out of order in its wake.

The dark blanket of milling storm clouds that shrouded the area made it necessary to turn on street lights in Pottstown at 3:30 p. m. so that motorists might see better through the blinding rain.

Willard L. Kline, manager of the Pottstown office of the Bell telephone company, reported 562 telephones were reported out of order after the storm ended yesterday.

"We're bringing in gangs from other areas not hard hit by the storm to help get the telephones back in order by tomorrow evening," he said yesterday.

Kline stated the damage was not exceptionally large when the 10,000 telephones in operation in Pottstown alone are taken into consideration. He said with the severity of yesterday's storm, the area was lucky not to have suffered greater losses in telephone service.

Seventy calls were answered by the Pottstown branch of the Philadelphia Electric company, Frank C. Llewellyn, superintendent of the office, reported.

"Trees across wires and blown-out line fuses caused us the most trouble," he said. Kenilworth was in a total blackout while the storm raged and lashed the buildings. Llewellyn said the blackout was caused by a tree falling across the main line leading into Kenilworth from Cedarville road.

The Kenilworth area was in blackness for about an hour and a half.

PUGHTOWN WAS also without electrical power. For two hours the residents of the area used flashlights and candles.

If the power shortage had been prolonged, residents with deep freezers packed with meats needing sub-zero temperatures would have suffered losses. None of the power shortages were of long enough duration to affect refrigerated foods seriously, it was reported.

Jeffersonville State police answered several storm calls. They directed motorists around trees felled on highways and away from dangerous electric wires.

Many roads were washed out in the area and sewers backed up in the sudden downpour. A sewer plugged up near Rose-fale drive on High street causing motorists to slow down to a crawl to get through the rising water.

A tree knocked down on the grounds of Ursinus college, Col. Emerson S. Hewitt, superintendent of the college, fell clear of the building.

Judge Bard Lashes Eisenhower, Martin

Judge Guy K. Bard, of Lancaster, carried the speech to perhaps another 100 pedestrians in adjacent blocks.

Bard, a judge of the US District court, pledged that if elected he would use his influence to get the Public Housing administration to reverse its decision, announced this week, not to continued operation of Hilldale homes.

He said, "I am assured that Pottstown is still in emergency." (Continued on Page Twenty-four)

County Vet Director Scores VA Head for Planned Discharges

Norman L. John, Montgomery County director of veterans affairs, last night blamed the Veterans Administration for the proposed discharge of 2250 employees in VA hospitals.

A former Pottstonian and past district commander of the American Legion, John claimed Gen. Carl Gray necessitated the firing of the 2250 by Nov. 4 by failing to "ask for sufficient money from Congress" to cover VA expenses.

In addition, John said, the general "doesn't use all the money that is appropriated" for the VA.

The veterans affairs director said the executive committee of the American Legion's Pennsylvania department has approved a resolution asking members of Congress from the State to intercede in the planned discharge of 100 disabled veteran patients from the Philadelphia Naval hospital.

The 100 are being removed from the institution, John said, for the same reason the VA hospital employees will be fired—the VA is short of money.

Valley Forge Army hospital employees will not be affected by the VA firings because the hospital is not connected with that division of the Government.

Hazard Eliminated At High and Franklin

A highway hazard at High and Franklin streets has been eliminated.

The borough highway department Wednesday afternoon completed a concrete face-lifting of the intersection which will carry away flood waters which formerly collected on High street after heavy rains.

Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden reported the intersection will not be open to the public for several days.

Thirty yards of 8-inch thick concrete were used on the job.

Business Club Hears George W. Copeland

"Bees probably were the first creatures to use air conditioning," George W. Copeland, Hanover Heights, told the Pottstow American Business club last night.

At the club meeting in the Elks home, Copeland said worker bees use the movements of their wings to air condition the hive.

Twenty-five members of the ABC were present to hear Copeland's talk which was illustrated by slides, magazine pictures and articles.

"The honey bee is not native to America," Copeland said. "It was brought here by settlers and has been important in the raising of crops in many areas of our country through its methods of pollination."

Norco Fire Company Fund Totals $537

North Coventry Fire company's building fund drive has raised $537 so far, it was announced yesterday by Robert R. Leinbach, treasurer, who added, "I'd say we are off to a pretty good start."

The sum raised is in cash and pledges for the erection of a fire house on Route 83, just west of Route 100, ultimate overall cost of the building is expected to be $30,000.

Upper Frederick Board Reviews Transportation

Only payment of bills and a brief discussion of pupil transportation occupied the October meeting of the Upper Frederick school board last night.

The transportation discussion concerned a check on the transportation of the school district's pupils to school. The check, a spokesman said, found the transportation system functioning well.

Pastor's Wife Admitted To Hospital for Surgery

Mrs. Laurence T. Beers, 307 King street, wife of the pastor of First Baptist church, was admitted to Pottstown hospital yesterday as a surgical patient.

She will be confined to the hospital about a week for minor surgery. Dr. Arthur F. Mann, the attending physician, said last night she is resting comfortably.

Paul Dague, Republican, Is Running for Congress

Rep. Paul Dague, who spoke at the meeting of young Republicans Wednesday night in West Chester, is running for re-election to the US Congress, to represent Lancaster and Chester counties, not for the Assembly as reported in yesterday's Mercury.

Delegation of Masons To Make N. Y. Trip

Between 50 and 60 members of Pottstown Lodge 254, F. and A. M., will travel to New York City tonight for a pilgrimage to the nationally-known Garibaldi Masonic lodge.

J. Max Cresswell, in charge of arrangements, said the contingent will travel by auto from Pottstown to Philadelphia, where at 4:50 p. m. they will board a train carrying approximately 600 Masons from the Philadelphia area.

The group will leave New York City at 11:30 p. m.

The pilgrimage, an annual affair, has been participated in by the Pottstown lodge for the past three years.

Garibaldi Lodge is known particularly for the degree work its members stage. There will be demonstration of such degree work tonight.

Car, Truck Collide On Slippery Street

Rain-slick State street was blamed for a car-truck accident near Freese's auction driveway early last night.

George R. Bartz, Rowetown Rd. C, driving a truck north on State street, told Motor Patrolman Stanley Borowy he blinked his lights so Robert N. Edwards, 228 High street would dim his lights and the two cars sideswiped.

Edwards was driving his coupe south on State street when the accident occurred. He said Bartz had just one headlight on and he misjudged the truck because of the single light.

The left front bumper, fender and headlight of the truck were damaged. The left front fender of the coupe was damaged.

Phillies Extinguish Fire in Oil Heater

The Philadelphia Steam Fire Engine company doused an oil heater with chemicals last night about 8 o'clock in Douglassville when the heater threatened to explode.

The fire company was called by Mrs. Charles B. Trego after a heater in her home began turning red. Her husband said the oil was fed into the heater too quickly and he could not regulate the flow to stop overheating.

The Phillies put the unruly heater under control by spraying chemicals for about ten minutes. No damage was caused to the property.

Pennsburg Building Gets Head Teacher

James E. Mullen was appointed head teacher in the Pennsburg building by the Upper Perkiomen Joint School board committee last night in East Greenville.

Mullen in that position will substitute for William G. Moser, assistant supervising principal of the recently-formed joint school system, when Moser is on inspection tours of other buildings in the system.

Moser told the committee some route problems have arisen in pupil transportation, but he is studying them and expects to solve them soon.

Boy Hurts Head in Fall, Gets Hospital Treatment

Stephen Cressman, 8, Pottstown Star Route, was treated in Memorial hospital dispensary for a cut of the scalp suffered in a fall from a swing.

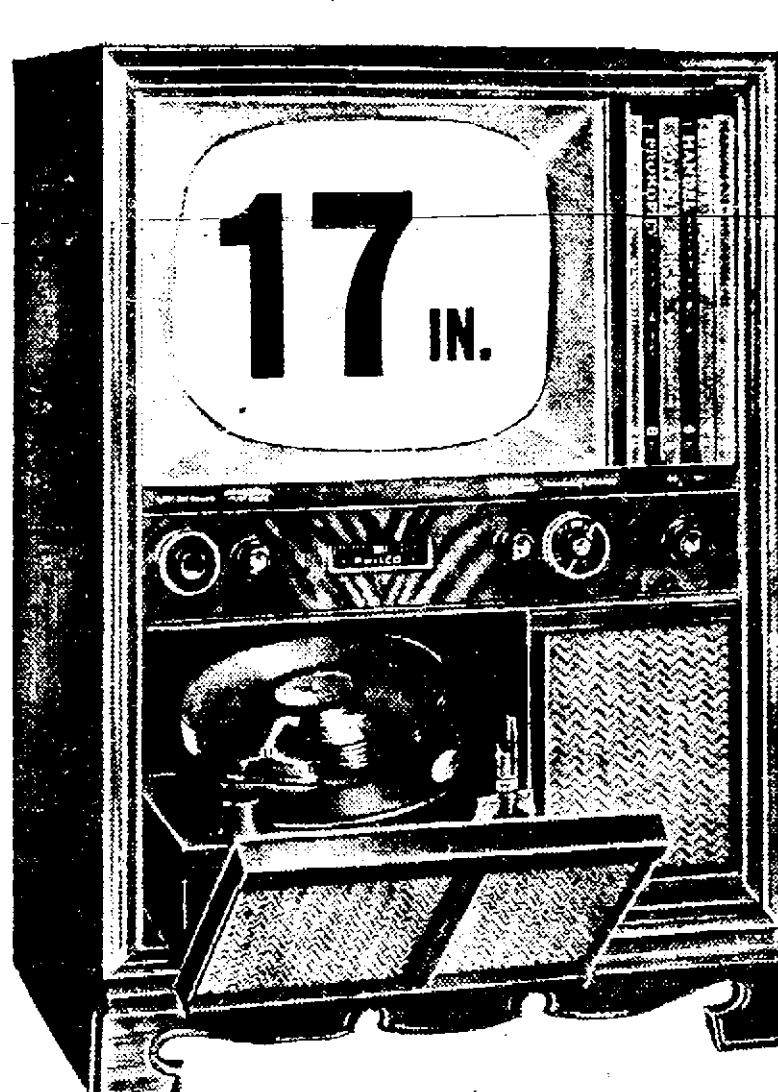

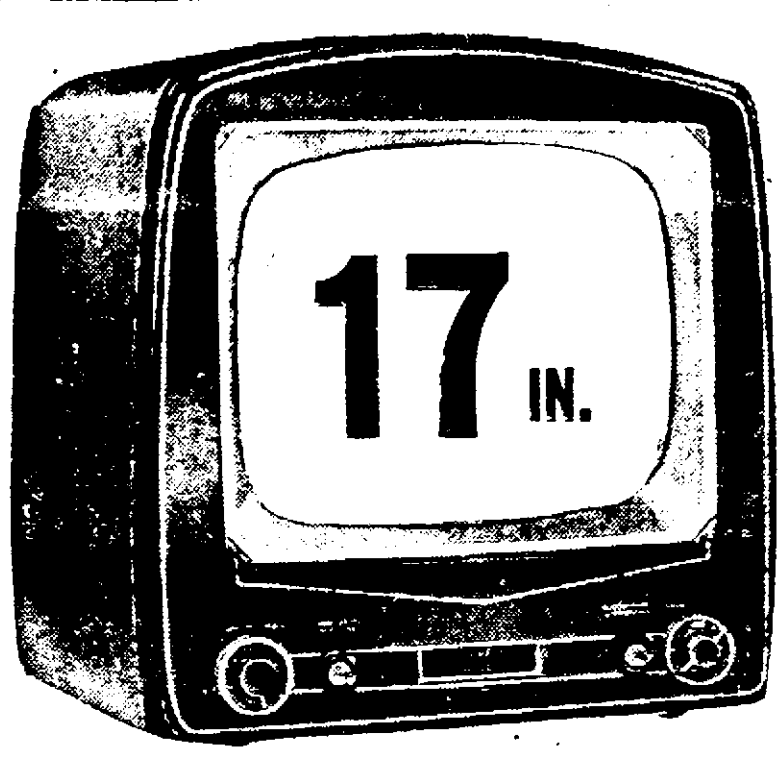

It was the second swing accident treated there this week.

Trinity Church to Hold All-Day Prayer Service

An all-day prayer service will be held tomorrow in Trinity Evangelical Congregational church, with members taking their turns in prayer for the evangelistic services to be held there next week.

The day will be divided into 15-minute periods, beginning at 6 a. m. and lasting until midnight. Those wishing to reserve one or more periods have been asked to call the pastor, the Rev. Donald T. Floyd.

Royersford to Get Adult Classes

Royersford school board authorized the supervising principal Dr. Kuntzleman to open classes with adult education classes when it met last night.

The school board presented a report of a recent survey, conducted with 1475 questionnaires.

According to the tabulation from the returns, 147 persons were interested in enrolling in an evening class. Subjects preferred were sewing, typing, oil painting, Spanish, woodwork and English and civics.

Dr. Kuntzleman announced that registration for the classes will be Monday and Tuesday from 7 to 9 p. m. in the high school auditorium. A fee of $5 per course will be charged payable at the time of registration. Funds received will be handled through the school activities fund.

THE SCHOOL board also heard that the Royersford Parent-Teacher association is planning to procure new draperies for the high school auditorium.

E. Paul Bergstresser, president of the PTA and Mrs. Charles F. Thompson, chairman of the drapery committee, attended the board meeting. Mrs. Thompson told the board the PTA is contributing $2300 toward the fund and expects receipts from a fashion show to swell the fund to be between $2800 and $3000. A bid received in June, 1951, for new draperies was $2500.

Bergstresser said he felt the project could be completed in time for graduation exercises in the Spring.

The board discussed the matter and President Paul Kraslev said the property committee of the board will soon make a comprehensive study of auditorium needs.

Board members felt considerable inside decorating would have to be done in connection with the new draperies, including painting.

Board members felt efforts should be made to dispose of old kept for various graduating classes of past years. One class alone left approximately $500 which the board has been keeping. If members of the classes would agree to sign off for their shares in the various funds the sum could help defray expense of the drapery installation.

Public Meeting to Discuss Care of Retarded Children

Residents of Spring City, Royersford and surrounding areas have been invited to attend a public meeting of the local unit of Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children.

The meeting will take place Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in Spring City, at a place to be announced.

Mrs. Frank J. Reed, Phoenixville, who has been active in starting the local unit, arranged the local meeting so that area residents may learn more about the organization. Mrs. Reed is first vice president of the Chester county chapter, of which the local organization is a unit. The Phoenixville American Legion is backing its unit and plans for a school for retarded children are well under way.

Spring City school board has offered its help in starting a similar school in Spring City. The local unit needs volunteers to assist in opening such a school.

Mrs. John Wunder who headed the movement in Spring City, has resigned.

Speakers at the meeting will be Mrs. Carl B. Weed Jr., state education chairman and education chairman of Montgomery county chapter, Reed, first vice president of the state organization and John J. Wahl, state treasurer.

Denmark to Reject Or Ignore Note by Russia Over Security

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Oct. 2 (AP) — Denmark will reject or ignore a Russian note accusing this country of threatening the Soviet Union's security in the Baltic, informed sources said today.

The Russians charged in the note, received by the Danish Foreign office today only after it had been made public in Moscow, that this nation is negotiating with the United States to set up North Atlantic Treaty bases for foreign troops on Danish soil.

The note said the establishment of foreign bases in this nation at the Baltic's mouth would violate postwar agreements between Russia and Denmark and create a "threat to the security of the Soviet Union."

"The Soviet Government puts upon the Danish Government all responsibility for possible consequences of such a policy," it said.

THE DANISH cabinet was called into extraordinary session to consider the subject. Foreign Minister Ole Bjoern Kraft laughed as he entered the meeting and told a newsman:

"We will just take it easy. There is no need to hurry."

Government leaders have said repeatedly there are no plans for establishing military bases in Denmark with 100 percent foreign personnel. However, negotiations for stationing about 150 US jet fighters at Danish bases in the Jutland peninsula to back the Danish Air Force have been going on for some time. Bases are being expanded for that purpose. Usually, reliable sources said Denmark expects eventually to have 200 fighters of her own.

Kraft said that whatever measures Denmark may take along these lines will serve purely defensive purposes. The sole task of the planes that may be stationed here will be to contribute to the defense of Denmark, he said.

This is only one angle, however, in broader Russian pressure against Denmark embracing such things as:

1—Denmark's membership in the NATO defense setup, which the Soviets charge is pointing toward war against Russia.

2—The construction of a 263 million dollar Arctic Air Force base by the United States in Greenland, Denmark's only colonial possession, under a Danish-American defense agreement of 1951.

3—Denmark's participation in the recent, Mainbrace maneuvers of eight NATO nations around Norway and Denmark, which included a landing by US Marines on Jutland.

Informed sources said the new note will not influence the Government's policy in any way and may boomerang by arousing new public resentment against what is considered undue Soviet interference in Danish and NATO affairs.

Painting Contests Cut Hallowe'en Mischief, Optimist Club Hears

"Vandalism has been cut down in our community during Hallowe'en due to the window painting contests we run," William F. Brown, president of the Trenton Optimist club, told Pottstown Optimist club members last night.

Brown was the guest speaker at the Pottstown club's weekly dinner meeting at the Clover Leaf restaurant at 6:30 o'clock.

The Trenton club is credited with being the first Optimist club to sponsor Hallowe'en window painting contests for school children.

Brown reported in 1946, the first year of the contest, 700 boys and girls participated in the event, painting 265 store windows.

The paint used in painting the windows is easily washed off, the guest speaker reported.

The Pottstown Optimists announced they had procured 17 windows to be painted on High street in a few hours. The windows will be decorated by Ninth grade pupils this year.

The pupils participating will get instructions at the Junior High school. They will design their own paintings and submit their ideas for approval to a committee of pupils.

Three to five persons who practice art as a hobby will serve as judges.

Yule Lights to Blaze First Time Nov. 25

Pottstown Christmas lights tentatively will be turned on the night of Nov. 25.

Members of the Mercantile bureau executive board yesterday voted to recommend the date for the official lighting ceremony at a bureau meeting next Monday.

For a number of years the Century club used to turn on Yule lights. For the past three years the ceremony has been sponsored by the Mercantile bureau.

The bureau program features split-second timing. The ceremony includes singing, a talk by a representative of Pottstown Ministerial association and a simultaneous lighting of vari-colored lights along High and Hanover streets.

Yesterday's session was held in the Chamber of Commerce office. Next week's meeting will be conducted in the Clover Leaf restaurant at noon.

Pottstown Portraits

A Quick Look at Your Neighbor

By LARRY DAVIS

There is only one man in Pottstown who can appreciate fully the remote connection between casual public speaking in the interest of War Savings bonds and a career. He is Albert P. Pollick, the 32-year-old administrator of Pottstown Memorial hospital.

But because he spoke on the need for private investment in government bonds Pollick was introduced to the job he now holds. The events, while apparently unrelated, are completely logical. On leave awaiting retirement in the rank of major for disability suffered in Army service, Pollick was invited by Ernest V. Hunter, former president of the Memorial hospital board of directors, to help spur the sale of bonds. Pollick accepted, and after several public appearances he was encouraged by Hunter to train under the GI Bill of Rights for a future in hospital administration.

That was in mid-1947. Four years later, his training completed, Pollick inherited the top administrative post at the hospital from Charles R. Wylie, now board president.

Pollick was born in Pottstown on June 9, 1920, the only child of Mabel (Dellicker) and the late Michael Pollick. His father was an insurance salesman who died five years ago.

After studying in the elementary schools here, he pursued the vocational training course at Pottstown High school, with emphasis on mechanical drawing, and was graduated in 1937.

A short period of unemployment followed, but for one year he worked at a gasoline station at High and Franklin streets, and for another he filed castings in the white metal department of the Doehler-Jarvis corporation.

"That," he says, referring to the five months it took to harden his hands to the job, "was the hardest work I ever did."

In December 1939 he joined Co. A of the local national guard and found himself federalized two months later. Maneuvers, guard duty along the east coast and training at the infantry officers' school at Fort Benning followed.

He was graduated as a second lieutenant Dec. 7, 1942, and on a 10-day furlough he was married to the former Miss Sarah Cosier, of West Conshohocken, at Elktion, Md. He had met his bride four years earlier when he was a surgical patient and she a student nurse at Pottstown hospital.

Less than a month after his marriage he was on his way to the Far East where, with the 32nd Division, he went into combat in New Guinea.

Three and a half years later, holder of the Purple Heart with Oak Leaf cluster, the Bronze Star and Silver Star for gallantry, he was, retired, Japanese machine gun bullets had shattered his left foot and ankle.

While a patient for two years at Valley Forge Army hospital, Pollick came to know a professional magician. From him he became interested in the art of misdirection.

"I felt," he says, "that if I could learn magic, I could develop confidence before audiences."

Today, a "black arts" performer with gimmicks, gadgets and illusions, he demonstrates his hobby before small groups of adults and children.

"If you can fool the kids," he observes, "you can fool adults, because children make up a difficult audience."

Besides magic, Pollick loves to play Santa Claus for underprivileged children.

As a student hospital administrator, he spent four years examining personnel management techniques, housekeeping, contractors' negotiations, and purchasing. For two years he studied four nights a week at Temple university, taking courses in public and business administration.

It is his job today to co-ordinate and direct the various professional and non-professional activities focused at the best possible patient care in the 92-bed hospital. His day starts at 8 a. m. and ends at 6 p. m., or later.

First Grade Pupils Explore Campus in Adjustment Program

By ESTHER B. DIENER

First grade children explored the school and large campus as part of the program of school adjustment. They were happy to find see-saws, swings, slides and a merry-go-round. "Safety First" was part of the discussion resulting from the trip.

Another day we took a hike, and without leaving the campus, we found many nature secrets. The children expressed their delight in Arthur Heist, Jackie Markle, Dick Miller, Robert Orlando, Kenneth Rhoads, Gerald Rice, Kermit Slaybaugh, Harry Kingston, Frank Detmold, James Brant, Sherry Beaumont and their cones. We also found spruce and hemlock.

There were so many things to be seen, but the children turned their attention and remarks to the red berry trees. The name "Dogwood" was presented, which seemed to be a funny name to some of the children. Our discussion took us to Springtime, when the Dogwood blossoms. Now we find clusters of red berries on the same trees. The colorful Dogwood and evergreens form a beautiful picture.

We began a Nature beauty corner in our room. It grows and grows. The children are now exploring by themselves on the campus and at home, and are bringing many things they find for the Beauty Table.

Fourth Grade Pupils Study, Discuss Globe

DAVID RUMLER

In Fourth grade, we are studying the globe. The globe is a map of the world in its real shape. At the widest part of the earth, it is 25,000 miles round. We also were talking about the sun, and we said that the sun is many miles away from us.

Another thing we talked about was the continent. We said Asia is the biggest continent.

There are seven continents in the world. We also talked about the equator, an imaginary line in the middle of the earth. We like talking about the globe and the sun.

Economy Prop Is Hit By Ike; Adlai Rests

Press Central-Associated

FRIDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 3, 1952

PAGE SEVENTEEN

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 2 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower asserted tonight that the economy of the United States, for years, has been propped up by "war and the threat of war," and he said a condition of false prosperity exists in the nation today.

Democratic economic planning, he said, has not raised living standards, increased wages, nor abolished unemployment.

On the contrary, the GOP presidential candidate told an audience at Peoria's Bradley university:

"War, not the Fair Deal, brought about the end to unemployment. The legacy of war, not the Fair Deal, helped to sustain a high level of economic activity."

Eisenhower said the Democrats, using their slogan "you never had it so good," are attempting to take credit for improvements in living standards. But he said:

"The blunt fact is that the only improvement achieved in these 20 Democratic years was during the five-year period of World War II."

The general said economic policies based on opportunities under peace, not war, must be devised.

"My goal," he declared, "is summing that the cold war gets no worse, is to cut Federal spending to something like 60 billion dollars within four years. Such a cut would eliminate the deficit in the budget, and would make way for substantial tax reduction."

Truman Attacks Cuts in Defense Proposed by Ike

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN, Oct. 2 (AP)—President Truman accused Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower tonight of advocating defense cuts that would wreck the nation's defenses.

Then he followed through by saving the Republican presidential candidate has led too sheltered a life in the Army to know anything about the bread-and-butter problems of the average American.

It would be disastrous, the President declared, to put such a man in the White House.

Truman opened fire at Eisenhower's defense views in a speech to more than 3000 persons in Seattle.

HE SAID the 30 billion-dollar cuts in spending which Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft have advocated for the next two fiscal years would be "sheer folly in the face of the known dangers of Soviet aggression."

He charged, too, that Eisenhower took this stand only to get Taft's support. And he said Eisenhower would eliminate the deficit in the budget, and would make way for substantial tax reduction.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 2 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson stepped quietly aside today and left the political stage at this Democratic campaign base to his GOP opponent for the presidency, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

While the general addressed a cheering crowd at Courthouse square, the Illinois governor lunched on chop suey, green salad and bran muffins at his desk in the executive mansion a few blocks away.

Aides said Stevenson switched on a portable radio and caught the latter part of Eisenhower's speech—a speech in which the Republican candidate tossed no verbal bricks at his rival.

On the contrary, Eisenhower talked kindly about the governor.

INDICATIONS were, however, that Stevenson turned on his radio late to hear Eisenhower thank him for an invitation to lunch at the mansion.

Only a crowded schedule, the general said, kept him and Mrs. Stevenson from accepting.

Stevenson had given State employees an extra hour for lunch so those who wanted to could get down to historic Sangamon county courthouse to hear Eisenhower.

And the general told his audience he wanted to make grateful acknowledgement to Stevenson for that.

With Stevenson temporarily marking time in his campaign for the White House, Eisenhower talked in Springfield mainly of the first Republican President, Abraham Lincoln, whose tomb the general visited right after arriving in the city.

But the sort of semi-truce which prevailed as the presidential trails crossed was sure to be short-lived.

US infantry moved in so swiftly and sternly on 500 rioting prisoners in one compound that Chinese Communists in nearby compounds called the whole thing off and even hauled down their defiant flags, officers reported.

American authorities got wind of the escape plot in August and were able to move quickly when the decisive hour arrived.

Eight US infantrymen stormed into a compound of rioting Reds and fatally shot or bayoneted 56.

He said the Republic of South Korea could raise more than a million men for military service but they would need training and equipment.

Government Aims At Deporting 100

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Attorney General McGranery said today the Justice department is rounding up some 100 underworld big shots and other undesirable characters with the aim of deporting them from the United States.

McGranery announced the drive at a news conference and said proceedings were started against half a dozen reputed racketeers in the past week.

In cases involving naturalized Americans, McGranery said, the first step will be to strip them of their citizenship.

The campaign, he said, is directed primarily against aliens and naturalized Americans who have engaged in organized crime. But it is also intended to rid the country of other persons regarded by the hearings. A formal statement outlining the attorney general's views on "unhospitable" mentioned in the same paragraph Frank Costello, New York gambling czar, and Charles Chaplin of the movies, who is a British subject. The department proposes to begin denaturalization and deportation proceedings against Costello. Chaplin is now abroad, and his re-entry into the United States will be made the subject of immigration

Bugle-Blowing Chinese Communists Hurl 14 Separate Attacks, Seize Four Outposts

SEOUL, Korea, Friday, Oct. 3 (AP)—Bugle-blowing Chinese Communists hurled 14 separate attacks at the Allies in western Korea Thursday night and seized four outposts hills in bloody hand-to-hand fighting.

A frontline officer said Allied troops gave up three hills in the extreme western sector south of Panmunjom, site of the armistice talks. They also withdrew from a height north east of Panmunjom, near Bunker Hill.

UN infantrymen beat off the other Chinese attacks, which ranged in size from one company—about 160 men—to three companies.

Counterattacking Allied troops discovered the Reds had withdrawn after seizing one small hill.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP)—Col. Ben C. Limb, Korea's observer at the UN and ex-foreign minister, said today he heartily welcomed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's proposal for South Korean troops to man the front lines in Korea.

He said the Republic of South Korea could raise more than a million men for military service but they would need training and equipment.

Cheju Riot Was Set To Start Mass Break

CHEJU ISLAND, Korea, Friday, Oct. 3 (AP)—A riot Wednesday in which 56 prisoners died was to have been the trigger for a mass break by 5884 tough Chinese Red prisoners, US officials said Thursday.

US infantry moved in so swiftly and sternly on 500 rioting prisoners in one compound that Chinese Communists in nearby compounds called the whole thing off and even hauled down their defiant flags, officers reported.

American authorities got wind of the escape plot in August and were able to move quickly when the decisive hour arrived.

Eight US infantrymen stormed into a compound of rioting Reds and fatally shot or bayoneted 56.

Boyertown Family Puzzled by Nature

It's sort of refreshing in these days of man-made miracles to find that Nature still has a trick or two up her sleeve.

Over near Boyertown, on the farm of Walter Burkepile, there's a Chestnut tree that suddenly got the queer notion the other day to blossom out of season.

The Burkepiles were caught unawares. The tree had blossomed the past Spring, according to the usual rules of the game, so when they went out to collect chestnuts off the ground the other day they weren't looking for any surprises—just chestnuts.

But you can take the word of Walter Burkepile Jr., 13, that there were plenty of blossoms on the tree.

Mr. Burkepile isn't sure what to think. His wife calls it "a freak of Nature," but hastens to add that she doesn't mean anything derogatory by it.

BUSINESS DECLINES
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 2 (AP)—The University of Pittsburgh said today business in the Pittsburgh district declined the past week for the second consecutive week. A lag in industrial production and the adjusted volume of trade were blamed for the decline.

LOCAL NOTICES

Oyster supper, Sat., 4 to 8 p. m. New Hanover Luth. Parish House.
Baked Ham supper, Zion's Ref. chapel, Sat., Oct. 4, 4 to 7 p. m. Adults $1.25; Child, 65c, incl. des.

This home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Batt, 621 Willow street (near East street) was built 12 years ago by Fred Jones and Son. A member of the firm, Earl Jones, lives next door at 617 Willow street in a similar type of house. Downstairs are a living room (left front) about 15 by 18 feet, dining room (left rear), kitchen two bedrooms and bath. Upstairs is an unfinished extension attic that could be made into two bedrooms and bath. The brick work is red. The wood trim a glossy white. Features of the interior include radiation units that are flush with the wall. Their big advantage, besides appearance, Mrs. Batt noted, was that they permit a wider range of furniture arranging. The house has a full cellar, unfinished, and no garage. The tree in front of the porch is a red maple. Because of the room layout, there is cross ventilation in almost every part of the house. Batt is manager of Levin's incorporated, jewelry and clothing store. Mr. and Mrs. Batt bought the home four years ago. On the tricycle are their children, Nancy, 5 years, and Judy, 19 months.

Jealous Father Kills Daughter and Self

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 2 (AP)—A jealous father who was accused of killing his pretty 16-year-old daughter shot and killed her last night when she returned from a double date and then fatally wounded himself.
Detective E. F. Lasseter of the Sheriff's Criminal Bureau of Investigation said John R. Moore, 34, a paving company employee, greeted his daughter, Betty, with "Baby, did you have a good time?" and then fired two shots at her.
One bullet from the .38 caliber revolver missed. The other nicked her left hand, apparently raised in a gesture of defense, and pierced her heart.
Lasseter said Moore then shot himself in the right temple and died shortly after arrival at a hospital.
The detective quoted Betty's older brother, John R. (Bobby) Moore Jr., 21, a part time short order cook, as saying his father had tried to kill Betty once before.
"We just didn't know what to make of it last February when Dad pulled a gun on sis and mom and threatened to kill them," he said.
"I guess we'll never know what went on in Dad's mind," the brother continued.
The Gurkhas who conquered Nepal in 1788 are noted for their exploits as soldiers in British armies.

Jefferson PTA Sponsors Fashion Show And Dance

The Jefferson Parent-Teacher association sponsored a benefit Gay Nineties Fashion show and barn dance Wednesday night at the Young Women's Christian association building. The proceeds from the affair will be used to send the Jefferson patrol team to Washington, DC.

Mrs. Bryce Manthorne, program chairman and commentator for the fashion show, announced each model and described the costume she was wearing. Mr. Ernest Brenaman provided a musical background as the fashions were shown.

One of the highlights of the evening was a black satin bathing suit complete with bloomers, matching hat and black cotton stockings, modeled by Mrs. Harold Beekley. Mrs. Ernest Brenaman then appeared in a long black and green gown from the 1880 period. A black plush coat and hat with flowers in front and long black feathers in back supplemented the outfit.

MRS. PEGGY Zohe, in her Sunday best, modeled a canary yellow dress, 1828 style; while Miss Trudy Silver gave a sophisticated air to the show in a black taffeta gown from the roaring '20's.

The housewife was not slighted as Miss Charlotte Anderson showed one of the favorite housewives of the year 1810 which featured long sleeves and a high neckline.

The years 1850 to 1880 were represented when Mrs. Philip Raden appeared in a tan dress with a narrow shawl; and Mrs. Douglas Scheffey promaded in a rose gown of velvet and taffeta, wearing a black hat with a huge feather and carrying a black pure silk parasol.

MRS. ANN JANE Dobry introduced the 1900's with an afternoon dress of light blue denim trimmed with white embroidery. Another outfit from the '20's was a navy blue dress featuring a Georgette camisole.

A display of old-fashioned accessories was then made by Mrs. Phyllis Morgan which included underwear and camisoles.

For the grand finale, all the models appeared in old-fashioned nightgowns and kimonos. One of the featured nighties was made of pure white linen.

Following the fashion show, the barn dance, led by caller Mr. William Morrell, took place with the music provided by records.

The door-prize was won by Mr. Ernest Brenaman and the cake-walks by Mrs. Judith Scheffey, Mr. Luther Supplee, Mrs. Verna Hadley and Miss Joanne Lepko.

The committee in charge of arrangements was Mrs. Ronald Linderman and Mrs. Lester Bush; that in charge of refreshments was Mrs. George Black and Mrs. Doris Bodner.

Look Ahead To Winter Through Spotless Glass

By ELEANOR ROSS
(King Features Writer)

Maybe you think that windows and curtains don't show up as much in cooler weather as they do in bright Summer sunshine. The fact is, however, that people look in and out of windows even more during the darker months—to reassure themselves about the weather, or simply to enjoy the cozy feeling a window treatment gives to the house.

Do right by your window, now that Autumn is here, not neglecting a good job on shades, be they plastic, fabric or Venetian blinds. At any rate, a clean window from top to toe is first on the schedule.

If you're washing sheer curtains that were up during the Summer, go by fabric and construction to discover the best sudsing directions. Fold them neatly and store on a nylon curtain can be washed in lukewarm soap suds, rinsed and hung up without wringing to drip dry. A slight pressing with a low heat iron on the wrong side is optional.

PLACE LACE or net curtains in a mesh laundry bag for protection. They should be dried on a curtain stretcher at about two inches shorter and one inch narrower than the original curtain size to allow for normal shrinkage. If you haven't a stretcher, hang them over a shower rod or taut line until nearly dry; then ease back to size and shape and press carefully—the always moving the iron lengthwise.

Summer cotton drapes that are colorfast can go into the washing machine before being packed away until next year. Don't iron them, but leave that job for Spring. Just best sudsing directions, fold them neatly and store on a nylon curtain can be washed in lukewarm soap suds, rinsed and hung up without wringing to drip dry. A slight pressing with a low heat iron on the wrong side is optional.

Many luxurious silk gauzes can be laundered by hand in lukewarm suds. Rinse, then roll in a towel and, while still damp, iron on the wrong side, always following the weave of the fabric.

Naturally the window, woodwork and curtain rods need a good washing after the Summer curtains are down and before the Winter ones are put in place. Soap and water still does a superlative job on window panes, and a wrung-out, sudsy cloth will take care of woodwork and rods.

Now you're ready to look forward to a bright and cheery winter—through spotless windows.

Pottstown's Finest

Hope for the future lies in Pottstown's schools. The Mercury is publishing pictures of Pottstown's finest, the children in our schools. Every day a new room of school children will be shown here. Save the series, and enjoy them anew in future years.

Stalin Claims Capitalist War 'Inevitable'; Hits Imperialism

MOSCOW, Oct. 2 (AP) — Joseph Stalin, in a long message to Communists published today, pictures war as inevitable among the capitalist countries. He asserts one has to believe in miracles to think Japan and Germany will not "break out of American slavery" and rise anew in an effort to smash the United States. At the same time, he pictures Communistic nations as growing stronger. Soon, he says, they can cease importing goods and instead export surplus merchandise. Stalin made his views known in a 50-page article in the magazine Bolshhevik. The publication came three days before the convening of a historic Soviet Communist party congress — an event expected to result in new disclosures of Communist policy.

Among the points Stalin put forward in the article, entitled "Economic problems of socialism in the USSR," were these: 1. War between the capitalist countries of the world is inevitable and the only way this can be changed is to destroy "imperialism." (The Communists say imperialism is the final state of capitalism.) 2. The capitalist countries are not likely to make war against the Soviet Union because they realize this would mean the destruction of capitalism. 3. The World (Communist) Peace campaign can result at best only in a temporary peace since it is not aimed at the overthrow of capitalism and the establishment of socialism. 4. Economic blockade by the West of the Soviet Union and associated Communist nations has resulted in these latter nations' rapid industrial development to the point where they can expect to begin marketing surpluses. On the other hand, Stalin said the resources of the United States, Britain and France are on the decline, and capitalists know it will be difficult for them to make up for the loss of such markets as China and the USSR. They are trying to make up for the loss, he said, by the Marshall Plan, the Korean war and the arms race "but this is very like a drowning man seizing at straws." Outlining a partial blueprint for the future in what unquestionably is the most important economic policy statement made in the USSR since before the war, the Premier foresaw: 1. Basic changes in the collective farm organization to begin in the near future and to be carried on until the total collective farm production is encompassed in the system of planned exchange of farm products for industry-produced commodities. 2. Doubling of the real wages of workers and at the same time a reduction in the work day from the present eight hours to six and then to five. 3. Introduction of universal compulsory polytechnical education for the purpose of providing freedom for a change in profession so that Soviet citizens need not be "shackled" for life to one job.

STALIN'S TREATISE is intended for incorporation in a 500 to 600-page textbook on the political economy of Socialism, which he declared must become a "revered book for revolutionary use not only inside our country but also abroad."

cause it obliged the managers to count production costs and levels in a "good practical school" rather than engaging in "nonsense about 'orientating figures' produced out of thin air." CITING ONE OF "numerous examples", he said the economic planners came up with an idea of co-relating the price of cotton seed sold to the grower and the price of cotton delivered to the state. The Central committee, he said, was "surprised" when it was proposed to make the price of a ton of seeds about the same as that for a ton of cotton. The committee, he related, had to step in with its own solution or "we would have ruined the cotton growers and would have remained without cotton."

Fire Equipment To Be Shown On High Street

Polished fire equipment from seven area fire companies will be on display in Pottstown Tuesday. Apparatus will line High street between Penn and Charlotte streets in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week in the borough.

Equipment from the Goodwill, Empire Hook and Ladder and Philadelphia Fire companies, Pottstown, Linfield, West End, Sana-toga and Gilbertville companies will be on view on both sides of High street.

Fire Chief Richard E. Lind-auser, Frank A. Rowe, borough fire equipment dealer; Joseph A. Kelly Jr., chairman of the Chamber of Commerce com-mittee planning the observance of Fire Prevention Week; and Daniel S. Drumbeller, head of Pottstown Fire police, will be present.

Kelly reported yesterday at a noon meeting of the committee in the Hanover House there will be fire drills in the schools through-out the week of Oct. 4-11.

BOY SCOUTS and Girl Scouts will distribute fire prevention post-ers. Both theaters will show short movies emphasizing the fire pre-vention theme.

Spot inspections will be made during the week. Pupils of St. Aloysius and St. Peter's parochial schools will participate in the pro-gram.

A full program for Fire Prevention Week has been outlined for Pottstown schools.

Present at yesterday's session were Kelly, Frank Keegan, assis-tant borough manager; Rowe, Har-vard E. Fosnacht, principal of ele-mentary schools, and Ralph H. Spare, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

no one wants to pay for them. As an example of this feeling he cites the reaction of his constituents when he returned home from Wash-ington after voting for increased taxes.

He said his constituents dis-approv'd of his tax vote, but then, after the Missouri river flood of 1951, they wanted him to obtain a "few million dol-lars" for flood control in his state.

Before Cole's address, the Ro-tarians and guests were enter-tained by Pennsylvania Dutch stories related by the Rev. Paul Schmoey, Kutztown, retiring gov-ernor of Rotary's District 265.

THEY ALSO heard a vocal group, "The Harmonettes," sing and Mrs. Jean Moore Miller, a former Potts-town now living in Reading, play the harp.

The "Harmonettes" comprised Bernice Shaw, Edith Dorang and Joann Burk, Pottstown Senior High school pupils. Dave Ricketts, out-standing Senior High school ath-lete, was introduced as the club's student leader of the week.

Club President Walter Heise, who introduced Cole, also intro-duced the Rev. Schmoey and Daniel E. Bauser Sr., Boyer-town, the only nominee for the district governorship. Bauser will be elected during the dis-trict's conference Sunday and Monday in Kutztown.

Each feminine guest of the club received a corsage and three stock-ings. The third stocking is to be reserved for use when one of the pair is damaged.

Heise announced next Thursday's meeting would be "donation night." Each member is expected to bring some sick room article for dona-tion to the Visiting Nurse organiza-tion of the borough. Warren DeLong is chairman of the meeting.

Paul H. Grim was chairman of last night's program.

News of Death Halts Luncheon

A luncheon meeting at Lake-side inn of Pottstown area Democratic leaders with Judge Guy K. Bard, candidate for US senator, was interrupted yester-day by news of the death of the Democratic party chair-man's brother.

The chairman, John McEvoy, Penn Wynne, left the luncheon to go to the Philadelphia home of 44-year-old Charles D. McEvoy Jr., who died there yester-day morning of a heart at-tack.

McEvoy had been accompany-ing the senatorial candidate's motorcade through the Upper end of Montgomery county.

he emphasized the 572,000 ma-jority by which Stevenson had car-ried Illinois in 1948.

Burgess William A. Griffith in-troduced Judge Bard. Other Potts-town party leaders present in-cluded:

County Commissioner Ray-mond K. Mensch; Paul P. Kohler, borough campaign chairman; Councilman George P. Ruyak; Dr. J. Elmer Porter; Harry B. Travis, president of Montgomery County CIO In-dustrial Union council; C. Roy Bush, former council president; and Leonard A. Keffler, presi-dent of Local 1056, United Auto Workers (CIO).

The Democratic motorcade made its first stop in the county at 11:15 a.m. when Judge Bard ad-dressed a rally in front of Penns-burg hotel.

From High and Washington streets, the candidate and his party went to Lakeside Inn for lunch, then made stops in the Eastern end of the county, climaxed by a rally last night in Conshohocken.

Williams said the old build-ing stood in the way of extend-ing crane runways. By tearing it down, additional length for the plant's receiving yard will be provided.

The company does not intend to build on the site of the old tool house, Williams reported.

"A foundation will be laid there for the crane runway," he said. "But that won't be for several more weeks."

The works manager stated the company has no intentions of build-ing another structure on the site in the immediate future.

Hope Seen for Hilldale

Hilldale attending the township elementary schools. Hilldale ten-ants pay both the occupational and per capita taxes.

In lieu of real estate taxes, the Government pays the school dis-trict and township a sum not ex-ceeding 10 percent of the shelter-rent total.

This payment, to the school dis-trict, has been $5000 a year. In ad-dition, the Government paid $7500 a year to help the district finance the additions to the school, opened a year ago, which were made nec-essary largely because of the large number of Hilldale children com-ing into the schools.

But the Government does not pay the $5000 while it is paying the $7500, Donnon explained, so the $7500 is all the district now is getting except for the taxes paid by the tenants themselves.

If Hilldale were evacuated, Donnon said, it would have no dis-astrous effect on the school sys-tem, even though two additions were built largely to accommodate Hilldale children.

He explained that the five-room addition would be filled within a few years even without Hilldale children. The other, four-room addition has not been finished in classrooms, and if Hilldale were closed, it could simply be kept what it is now—an activities room.

Donnon added that if the Gov-ernment had told the school board three years ago that it was going to give up Hilldale, and that the whole project might be closed, the board could have held off con-structing the additions, and gotten additional Federal help that was on the horizon but not available soon enough to help the board.

PERRY EMPHASIZED that the struggle over the fire-exits demand is between the PHA and the State department of labor and industry. "We're out of it," Perry declared. "We don't own Hilldale; we only manage it."

If the authority was not con-fronted with the heavy cost of building the fire exits, Perry said, it would be willing to accept owner-ship rather than have tenants run the risk of eviction, even though the project is increasingly expen-sive and difficult to maintain.

(Menges said Wednesday that if the State insists on compliance, families in the 27 units soon would face eviction.)

(Henry J. Maloney, regional su-pervisor for the labor and industry department's inspection division, said Tuesday that the State had no intention of lifting its demand. "We would rather have them be forced to move out than to be car-ried out by six men after a fire," he declared.)

Two Lower Pottsgrove super-visors, Joseph Mack and Fran-cis Donohue, agreed that if there was no other alternative, the commissioners would make a thorough re-study of the question of operating Hilldale themselves.

They emphasized that it might be financially impossible for the board to assume the costs of main-tenance and administration.

THE PAST YEAR, the super-visors were approached through the county authority about the possi-bility of their taking over Hill-dale. Their decision then was that the board could not do it.

The supervisors added that there was not then a clearcut danger that Hilldale would be closed. In the face of such a danger, the supervisors said, they might be able to consider the facts in a dif-ferent light.

(John Saylor, third member of the board of supervisors, could not be reached for comment on the question.)

Meanwhile, Francis Donnon, president of the township's school board, suggested a fourth possible "out" for Hill-dale. In his work in Philadel-phia with recreation projects, he came in contact with former Federal housing developments that had been taken over by an authority formed by the tenants themselves.

"As a last resort, that might be well worth their looking into," Donnon asserted.

HE SAID the board was sympa-thetic to the plight of Hilldale tenants but was not in a position to help with the basic problem.

There now are 112 children from the next time he becomes a donor.

TWO OTHER donors received gold-stamped pins yesterday for be-coming gallon donors. Those who have contributed 8 pints of blood since the outbreak of war in Korea are Mrs. Kathryn Giannotti, 68 North Charlotte street, and Mrs. Erna Wynne, 50 Walnut street.

The bloodmobile was in town yesterday for the first time since May. It comes to Pottstown eight times a year. It is not scheduled for a return visit until Dec. 2.

Dr. Friedberg said the Armed Forces get first call on the blood that is collected in this way. "Half the blood is set aside immediately for the armed forces," he ex-plaind, "and they get as much of the rest as they need."

"The remainder goes for civilian use. Of course, regis-tered donors are entitled to the blood free if any of them needs a transfusion in sickness or emergency."

Among the donors yesterday was Mrs. Hilda Pritz, Pottstown RD 1, a German woman who doesn't speak English. It was her second visit to the bloodmobile.

"We had donors from all walks of life," Dr. Friedberg said, "in-cluding three barrel-rollers from the Kinsey distillery, who came with 12 other workers from there."

Groups of workers from Beth-lehem Steel, Jacob's Aircraft Engine company, the Flagg Manufactur-ing company, Neapco corporation and the Pottstown Machine com-pany also came to give blood.

Volunteer workers who assisted the donors, in addition to Dr. Friedberg, were Mrs. Friedberg and Mrs. James C. Wilke, staff aides; Lillian Williams, Mrs. Wil-liam Mignona, Mrs. Anna Caleen, Mrs. Helena Himes, Mrs. Edith Borneman, Mrs. C. L. Seivard, Mrs. C. B. Welch, Mrs. Forrest Rogers, and Mrs. A. E. After each meeting the con-gregation will leave the synagog and enter a thatched hut at the rear of the building.

Yankees Tie Series With 7-1 Victory

BROOKLYN, Oct. 2 (AP)—One-round Billy Martin and Vic Raschi big Vic blazed that fast ball and restored the pride of the Yankees today as Brooklyn pitching buckled under the New York Yankees square the 1952 World Series with a 7-1 victory in the second game.

Martin, the fiery second baseman who returned as unbeaten middleweight champ of the American League after two Spring ball park brawls, singled losing pitcher Carl Erskine and reliever Billy Loes, with a tie-breaking single and a three-run homer to drive home four big runs.

Out on the mound, the 33-year-old Raschi coolly and carefully strong armed his way to a three-hit triumph, his fourth in Series competition dating back to 1947.

Only in the third inning when the Brooks had loaded the bases—Peewee Reese, Duke Snider and Roy Campanella for their third lone run did the veteran right-hander allow a hit. He zoomed down the stretch with six-no-hit innings.

From the third to the seventh, ers, leaving a no-out, bases loaded situation for the 22-year-old Loes. Mickey Mantle's bunt single, his second of three hits for a 555 series average, started Erskine on the way out in the big inning. Gene Woodling's shotgun single to first center kept it going. When Yogi Berra walked on a 32 pitch to fill 'em up, Erskine was derelict for Loes.

Loes made Joe Collins rap a double play bouncer to Jackie Robinson who tagged Berra in the baseline. But Hodges let Robinson's easy throw squirm out of his glove for a costly error, Mantle scoring.

Gil McDougald dunked a bunt toward first that Hodges picked up and held, without making a play, as Erskine, started Erskine on the way out in the big inning.

Up stepped Martin, playing his first Series as a regular since Gerry Coleman marched off to war. After looking at a ball he picked Loes' second pitch into the seats about 360 feet away to break the game wide open with three more big runs.

Raschi Offered Raise If "Just Get 'Em Out"

BROOKLYN, Oct. 2 (AP)—"I just told him to be a good boy and get 'em out and I'd get him a raise."

That, said Yankee skipper Casey Stengel with a mischievous grin is what he told Vic Raschi when the big hurler got in a jam in the second inning.

The Brooks had loaded the bases—all on walks—when Stengel walked out to the mound to talk with the veteran hurler.

"Just get 'em out and I'll get you a raise," Casey told Raschi. And the Yankee ace retired pitcher Carl Erskine on the first pitch.

Raschi was dripping sweat when he reached his locker.

"Sure was hot out there," he said.

"What was the matter at the start when you were in trouble," he was asked.

"Me in trouble." All I did was walk three men in one inning, but none of them scored. It's when they score that you're in trouble."

Raschi said all the Dodger batters were bothersome to him. It appeared to some that Jackie Robinson's base running antics had the big Yankee upset, resulting in those three base on balls.

But Raschi just laughed it off.

Eagles Name Van Buren Coach

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles today named Steve Van Buren assistant coach of the National Football League club.

Van Buren, star halfback who played eight seasons with the Eagles, suffered a dislocated knee in pre-season practice and will be out of action all season.

Steve, one of the NFL's top ground gainers, will assist head coach Gene Woodling in the team's 1953 season.

He has to bring his total for the Series to Erskine all shouldered blame for Adams' three four touchdown, averaged 70.6 yards a game in 83 fives. Tomorrow we go with Ed the Brooklyn performance which passes in the course of a 39-14 Penn Lopat back in Yankee Stadium "fell many degrees short of yesterday's triumph.

Wild Pitch Turned Into an Out

Dodger Catcher Roy Campanella (39) turns fifth inning wild pitch into an out as he traps Yankee second baseman Billy Martin between second and third and makes putout toss to third baseman Billy Cox. When one of Carl Erskine's pitches hit home plate, Hank Bauer broke from first with Martin occupying second. Martin, hung up between second and third, delayed action long enough for Bauer to reach second. Umpire Babe Pinelli watches the play. Yankees won second game, 7-1.

Praise Raschi

Brooks Rebuke Selves; Erskine Injures Knee

BROOKLYN, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers had nothing but praise for Vic Raschi and rebuke for themselves today after losing the second game of the World Series to the New York Yankees.

"I was awfully wild," lamented good-looking young Carl Erskine, who was charged with the 7-1 defeat.

"I put the first man on base in each of the six innings I worked a change-of-pace ball."

"On the one day I should have had control I couldn't hit a barn door. But we have days like that, and I hope I get another chance."

Manager Charles Dressen disclosed that Erskine had a locker room accident just before the game which may have contributed to his lack of effectiveness.

The lead right-hander fell off a small ladder while looking out of a window and re-injured an old football knee. He also banged his head.

"Carl sometimes gets deathly sick when he hits his knee like that," said Dressen. "I started to start Loes (Billy Loes who relieved in the sixth), but Erskine told me he was okay, and he looked sharp in the warmup, so I started him."

THE DODGERS' dressing room was quiet and melancholy today in contrast to the bulb flashing question-asking beldam that followed their 4-2 opening game victory yesterday.

Gil Hodges, Roy Campanella and Jackie Robinson all shouldered blame for Adams' three four touchdown, averaged 70.6 yards a game in 83 fives. Tomorrow we go with Ed the Brooklyn performance which passes in the course of a 39-14 Penn Lopat back in Yankee Stadium "fell many degrees short of yesterday's triumph.

Penn Loosens Its Air Arm

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2 (AP)—With an eye to last year's Dartmouth tussle, the University of Pennsylvania sharpened up its passing offense in grid drills today.

Penn's Glenn Adams, a half-back, sharpened his arm for an aerial duel Saturday with Jim Miller, the operator of Dartmouth's pure T offense.

Last season against Dartmouth, Adams threw four touchdowns, averaged 70.6 yards a game in 83 fives. Tomorrow we go with Ed the Brooklyn performance which passes in the course of a 39-14 Penn Lopat back in Yankee Stadium "fell many degrees short of yesterday's triumph.

started off as though they meant to do just that.

Raschi slid through an easy first inning but walked the bases full of runners in the second.

base running seemed to upset the Yankee pitcher. Still he escaped when Erskine popped up the first pitch for the third out.

Brooklyn took the lead in the third where it concentrated its entire "attack" on Raschi. With one out, Reese lined a 32 pitch into left center for the first hit.

Snider's perfect hunt single trickled down the third base line to McDougald who had no chance for a play. Robinson forced Snider but the Duke cut down Rizzuto, breaking up any chance for a double play. That permitted Reese to reach third.

Campanella grounded a single through the hole — between McDougald and Rizzuto — to score Reese and the Dodgers' first and last-run.

Back came the Yanks in the fourth to tie the score. Mantle boomed a double high off the scoreboard in right moved to third on Woodling's infield out and raced him with his blinding speed after Berra fled to Carl Furillo.

Martin took over in the fifth after McDougald drew Erskine's fourth pass. A dropped strike by Campanella that let McDougald scoot to second for a credited stolen base set it up for Martin's tie-breaking single to left.

ANDY PAFKO, who cut down a runner at third with a perfect pop yesterday, threw wide to the plate. McDougald scored and Martin took second.

The roof almost caved in on Erskine in that fifth. After he struck out Raschi, he walked Hank Bauer. There were Yanks on first and second with only one out.

On a third ball to Phil Rizzuto that hit the plate and bounced from Campanella's mitt, Bauer started to run. Apparently he did (Continued on Page Twenty-seven)

Vic's in a Playful Mood

Vic Raschi, who spun three bitter to whip Brooklyn, 7-1, in second World Series game, pinches cheek of Second Baseman Billy Martin in some Ebbets Field dressing room horsplay. Billy's three-run homer featured Yankees' five-run sixth inning. Their win evened the Series at one game apiece.

Scoring ahead of Martin are Joe Collins and Gil McDougald. Homer sparked Yanks' five-run splurge in sixth to give them a 7-1 victory and even Series at one game apiece.

Series Sidelights

BROOKLYN, Oct. 2 (AP)—Peppery Yankees' Casey Stengel paid high tribute to the Yankees' ace pitcher today.

"Why should those guys be scared of us," he said of the Yankees' ace pitcher today.

"They're a seasoned club. They've got a manager who's been around, in the majors and minors. They've got sharp coaches. They've played against some of the best players there are—like that fellow Musulo (Musial). Why should we be scared of them?"

Snider was forced at second in the third inning, on Jackie Robinson's grounder. The tiny, veteran Yankee went down hard and play was suspended while he was treated.

"It looked like the ball was going to hit Duke," said Rizzuto. "I just stood there on second instead of getting out of my way as I should have done."

The spike wounds were about six inches long and there was blood on one of them.

Pie Traynor, the old Pittsburgh third baseman who is one of the all-time greats at that position, is a World Series spectator and not the least surprised at the sparkling fielding of Brooklyn's Billy Cox.

Traynor discovered Cox at Harrisburg, in 1941 and sent him to the Pirates, who let the fine infielder get away. "He's one of the greatest glovemen I ever saw," says Traynor.

Texas Sports Top Grid Card

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Proud Texans like to tell the story of how a lone star state's sportsmen handled towns and a ranger was dispatched to quell it.

"You don't mean," an outsider inquired incredulously, "you just sent one man to put down the uprising?"

"Why, sure," replied the Texan. "There was just one riot. Wasn't half bad."

Future All-Americans

Lattner, Heinrich Rank With Best

NEW YORK—Two backs who figure to lead their teams to winning seasons are Don Heinrich, the University of Washington's 1950 All-America, and John Joseph Lattner, Notre Dame's versatile right halfback.

They have been standouts in early season games.

JOHN LATTNER
Notre Dame Star

Heinrich, a 178-pound six-foot senior of 21 from Bremerton, Wash., was Washington's big gun as the Huskies turned back Idaho, 39-14, and Minnesota, 19-13, in their first two battles.

Heinrich, who sat out the past season due to a shoulder injury, completed 17 of 24 passes against Idaho. Two of them went for touchdowns. Against Minnesota he completed 8 of 15 aerials, one of which went for a touchdown.

Heinrich's target usually is big Bill Earley. He talked three times on Heinrich forwards in the first two games.

In Notre Dame's opener against Pennsylvania, it was Lattner, a 19-year-old 190-pound junior from Chicago, who put the Irish in front. Lattner led a 90-yard drive by plunging over from two yards out.

DON HEINRICH
Huskies' Ace Passer

It'll take more than one Texan to put down all the football riot in the Lone Star State this week, with Notre Dame at Texas, Georgia Tech at SMU, Kentucky at Texas A&M, Washington State at Baylor and LSU at Rice.

We bloodied our nose a bit last week (they should have called the Michigan Game after the first quarter) but we still have a season's record of 67 hits against 21 misses for .762.

Another whirl:

Texas over Notre Dame — the Fighting Irish are not yet the team of other years. The Longhorns have too many good backs.

WISCONSIN over Illinois—this is the Badgers' year in a nip-and-tuck rivalry. Illinois can't go to the Rose Bowl, Wisconsin can.

Georgia Tech over Southern Methodists—this could go either way but Tech is getting stronger as it goes along.

Tennessee over Duke—one of the South's traditional headlines. The Blue Devils probably favored, but a vote for the Vols.

Cornell over Navy—the Midshipmen now among the East's best, but the Big Red was looking to this one when it lost to Colgate.

Michigan State over Oregon State — perhaps the Spartans' toughest test. Too many horses on the Nation's No. 1 team.

Stanford over Michigan — both teams let down after last week's major test. The Indians are rolling.

Southern California over Army — the Trojans have too much for the bounce-back Cadets. It'll be a long trip home.

Maryland over Clemson — the Terrapins have had two close squeaks. Jack Seabath may have to save another one.

Oklahoma over Pittsburgh—Billy Vessels leads the Sooners back to the winning path.

The others:

FRIGHT NIGHT
Alabama over Miami (Fla.)
Syracuse over Temple.

SATURDAY
EAST—Yale over Brown, Princeton over Rutgers, Columbia over Harvard, Penn over Dartmouth, Holy Cross over Fordham, Penn State over William & Mary, Colgate over Buffalo, Maine over Vermont, NYU over Kings Point, Williams over Rochester.

MIDWEST—California over Minnesota, Indiana over Iowa, Nebraska over Iowa State, Ohio State over Purdue, Kansas over Colorado, Missouri over Kansas State, Villanova over Detroit, Northwestern over Vanderbilt, Wichita over Bradley, Boston U. over Marquette.

SOUTH—Virginia over VPI, Washington and Lee over George Washington, West Virginia over Waynesburg, Florida over The Citadel, South Carolina over Furman, Tulane over Santa Clara, VMI over Richmond, Georgia over North Carolina, N. C. State over Davidson, Mississippi over Auburn, Mississippi State over Arkansas State, Wake Forest over Boston College.

SOUTHWEST—TCU over Arkansas, Tulsa over Cincinnati, Houston over Oklahoma, A&M, Kentucky over Texas A&M, Rice over LSU, Washington State over Baylor.

FAR WEST—Utah over Arizona, Denver over Colorado A&M, Brigham Young over Montana, Washington over UCLA, College of the Pacific over Texas Tech, Wyoming over Utah State, Oregon over Idaho.

Trojans Outgain 2 Opponents Almost 4 to 1 in Ground Game

Just how far the Pottstown Trojans are going this season remains to be seen, but in two games played so far they have gone almost four times as far as their foes.

The ground route has proved the most profitable, although the passing attack has accounted for two of the ten Trojan touchdowns.

Lansdale and Upper Merion compiled a net ground yardage gained of 54 yards. The gross figure was up to 128 yards but a subtracting element in the Trojan forward wall reduced it considerably. The defense has limited runners to just a fraction over one yard per carry.

Against this defensive record, the offensive boys can boast of a net gain of 447 yards. Just Huskies and Spartans were do about a half a first down has been chalked up each time a Trojaner jugs the leather — figuratively speaking to the tune of 5.3 yards a carry.

The air arm has not been too potent in covering long distance, but in the payoff department it has been better than adequate. The opposition has outgained PHS in the air, 91 to 82 yards. But in touchdowns by aerials, Coach Heeb Meyers' boys led 2-1.

POTTSTOWN opponents have found the penalty department to be their most potent offensive and defensive weapon. While being punished for only 80 yards, the net gain of 447 yards. ## Villanova Gears For Passing Tilt

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2 (AP)—Villanova's so-far-successful aerial attack was given another dress rehearsal today as the Wildcats prepared to sail over Detroit's defense in the motor city Saturday.

Coach Art Ranno acted on the basis of an exhaustive scouting report by end Coach Alex Bell which indicated the Titans have a rugged forward wall which will be hard to dent.

"We did all right with our passing against Clemson last week," said Ranno optimistically. He said his 22-year-old son, a 3 to 1 favorite to lead his 23-year-old team to a first-class chuckers — backs Gene Filipek and Ben Addiego.

Saxton Goes After No. 32

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Underdog Johnny Saxton goes after his 32nd straight victory tomorrow night when he takes on the little-known but powerful Ralph (Tiger) Jones in a bout that will be nationally telecast and broadcast from St. Nicholas arena.

Saxton, a fast-punching 22-year-old from Brooklyn, is a 3 to 1 favorite to defeat his 23-year-old rival from Yonkers, N. Y., in the 10 p. m. Pottstown time) ten-round welterweight clash.

Weekend Tilts Should Focus C-M Picture

The Ches-Mont league picture will focus a bit more sharply after this weekend's gridiron dust settles.

Only Pottstown High, in the seven-team circuit, will be inactive, as one league game is scheduled, and the other four members take on outside opponents.

The Trojans have licked all their wounds from the Upper Merion game and would welcome a chance to return to combat. But, with their next game—with Norristown—still almost a week away, Coach Heeb Meyers and his crew can sit back and watch the latest developments and form opinions.

A quick look around the league finds:

BERWYN—Coach Ernie Meyer again appears to have a championship contender. After opening with a 24-6 victory over Bridgeport, Berwyn won its second straight against St. Mathew's. Tonight's battle with an improving Conshohocken team should be a real test. The win over Bridgeport gives Berwyn the league leadership at present.

BRIDGEPORT—After losing to Berwyn, the Dragons evened their league record by defeating West Chester, 13-6. Coach Ted Kerchner, has a tongue-twisting backfield that will be trying to rattle the wings of Roversford's undefeated Eagles tonight. A victory here would boost the Porters' stock.

COATESVILLE—Sporting the best record, 3-0, of all the teams in the loop, the steel-owners take on an industrial brother, Steelton, tomorrow. The Central Penn conference team is favored, and should Coatesville win it would rank as the club to beat for Ches-Mont honors. The Red Raiders have rolled up more than 90 points in winning three non-league games for freshman coach Wayne Von Stetten.

DOWNTOWN—With only a 7-0 victory over Wilmington to show for 1952, the Whippets of Jumbo coach, Howard Caskey are still a question mark. The defending champions play Upper Merion tomorrow, giving Pottstown fans a chance to compare statistics and scores.

PHOENIXVILLE—The Phantoms' game with West Chester Saturday is of prime importance to local rosters. Coach John Hubick will bring his team to Pottstown for the Trojans league opener Saturday, Oct. 18. The past week's 25-7 win over Howard was a pleasant surprise and indicates the Phantoms will do plenty of scaring this season. Phoenixville has played only one game.

WEST CHESTER—Last and we're afraid least, is at the bottom of the league standings, 0-1, because of its loss to Bridgeport. Warriors also lost to Lancaster (McCaskey High) and it will be an upset if they halt Phoenixville tomorrow.

Pottstown's most pressing problem is Norristown. The Eagles play host to Olney High of Philadelphia tonight and will probably extend their record to 3-1. Injuries have rattled the Eagles lineup, but unless more occur tonight, Coach John Sweeney will have most of his regulars ready for the Trojans next Thursday night.

The late afternoon storm washed out yesterday's drill at Franklin field, but Meyers will have his squad back at it today practicing new pass patterns and defense against Norristown formations.

PHS Harriers Open at Home

The Pottstown High school cross country team will be trying for its first victory of the season when it plays the heavy rain yesterday afternoon brought a sudden end to the game after three-quarters had been completed.

It is believed the game will be rescheduled for Franklin field on Friday when yesterday's game was against Berwyn in the opening meet the past Tuesday.

Fullback Stricken

Tarheels Cancel Games As Polio Overruns Campus

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. Oct. 2 (AP)—Davidson of Murphy, N. C., who The University of North Carolina, complained yesterday of illness, its football fullback stricken with polio and three other students abed with the disease, canceled its next two games today.

Wiped off the slate were Saturday's game with Georgia at Athens, and next week's game here against North Carolina State College.

The Georgia game had been expected to draw about 50,000 fans at $4.30 a ticket, and the State game a throng of about 40,000 at $3.50 a head—a total of about 90,000 seats at approximately $355,000.

Georgia announced after its game with North Carolina was canceled that North Carolina State had agreed to play in Athens as a replacement. North Carolina State, however, is scheduled to play Davidson Saturday night and the Davidson players voted not to postpone their game.

There was another report from Athens that Coach Wally Butts would attempt to schedule a service team as an opponent Saturday. If such a game is lined up, tickets for the North Carolina game will be honored. Refunds will be made to those wanting them.

NORTH CAROLINA officials, acting upon recommendation of medical authorities called off the games "as a means of safeguard and precaution for protecting its opponents' players as well as its own."

Physicians recommended the move after fullback Harold (Bull)

Bearing It

Ursinus Opens With Susquehanna

Lost: Five games in 1951, and the past season or have good reason for not doing so.

ROYERSFORD'S Frank Kelp, at left guard, is a transfer from Yale, while fullback Ben Maliken, Asbury Park, N. J., was sidelined the past year with injuries.

Two Freshmen have cracked the starting lineup and both are Chestnut chips.

Center Pat Marburger, of Bridgeport is one, with John Conti, who scampered all over the C-M's various lots in '51 for Bervyn's run-ups, slated for the opening right half slot.

Seven lettermen are back.

The offensive bellwether of the group looks to be left half, Dick Glock, a 165-pounder from Maywood, N. J., who led the team in scoring in the past.

Replacing Poore in the under-center position will be 5-7 Al Paolone—one of three former Upper Darby players in the first eleven.

Junior John Anderson, 160, of Carlisle, will team with Kelp at the guards and Pat Webb, at 185, a Junior, has the nod to start things at right tackle.

WEBB IS ONE of the Upper Darby products, as is right flanker Dick Sharp, also a Junior, 165.

Included among the group was quarterback Bill Poore, who stood up as the foremost Bear thrower—he didn't wrestle bears—in recent year.

Also in the bunch was All-Middle Atlantic tackle John Knox and Pottstown's Gene Pasucci, a stick-out linebacker.

But, looking to the forthcoming campaign, it can be said that all Darby products, as is right flanker Dick Sharp, also a Junior, 165.

Yanks Beat Dodgers

not realize that Martin had not started in move. Consequently Martin was cut down easily at third by Campanella's peg to Billy Cox. As it turned out this didn't matter much.

Manager Casey Stengel went out to Raschi only once during the afternoon. It was after he walked the bases full with two out in the second.

"Lop tomorrow," said Stengel. "Raschi was wonderful today. He doesn't look like a graceful pitcher but he has the stuff or he wouldn't have the record he has."

RASCHI used to such details as World Series victories, took things in stride.

"Trouble?" he said. "I didn't have trouble. I walked three men in the second but they didn't score. It's when they score you have trouble."

In the Dodger clubhouse, Manager Chuck Dressen explained Erskine had fallen off a ladder in the clubhouse before the game, aggravating an old knee injury.

"He was looking out the window, trying to see if it was going to rain," Dressen explained.

The scene shifts to the big Yankee Stadium for tomorrow's third game with two left-handers — Yankee Ed Lopat (10-5) and Dodger Preacher Roe (11-2) — slated to work. The teams will continue play at the Stadium Saturday and Sunday, moving back to Brooklyn Monday and Tuesday if nobody has won four by that time.

The second guessing contingent had a chance to work out in the second. Raschi was having control trouble, trying to pitch to the hitters while Robinson danced off third base. After his third walk loaded the bases, it was Erskine's turn to hit. Instead of waiting out the pitcher, Carl went for the first pitch and popped to Mickey Mantle.

Tribe Ready To Bid for Ralph Kiner

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—General Manager Hank Greenberg said today his Cleveland Indians will bid for Pittsburgh's home run slugger Ralph Kiner if they get a chance.

"We'd love to have him," Hank told a reporter. "I'm afraid, though, it won't be possible to get him out of the National League. Too many clubs would like to have him."

The Pittsburgh Pirates have said that Kiner is on the block. He hit 37 homers this season.

Greenberg also said he has been sounded out by other clubs on the availability of Larry Doby and Ray Boone. But he said he wasn't interested in their offers.

Newspapermen here at the World Series say the St. Louis Browns' and the Detroit Tigers want both of these players. Detroit never has known a Negro player, but expressed interest in Doby last June.

Hit and Run Play Backfires

Sliding Hank Bauer of the Yankees is out at second after a tag by the Dodgers second sacker Jackie Robinson in the first inning of the second World Series game Oct. 2, at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn. Bauer was cut down when teammate Phil Rizzuto swung and missed the pitch on an attempted hit and run play. Umpire is Bill McKinley.

Irish Dander Up

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 2 (AP)—with their own front teeth.

A University of Notre Dame official issued a statement tonight accusing Life Magazine of "gross misrepresentation" and "false impressions" in a picture layout last week showing apparently toothless Notre Dame football players.

The Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, executive vice president and chairman of the faculty board in control of athletics, asserted:

"Four players were pictured as representative of Notre Dame's present football team. (All four were shown with missing teeth).

"The facts are these: two of the players pictured by Life have never participated in a Notre Dame game. Three of the four pictured were falsely identified as well known varsity players. Three of the falsely identified accurate portrayal of American varsity players are still smiling life and institutions."

"NINETY-FOUR percent of our varsity squad have never lost a tooth playing football at Notre Dame. Three out of 50 players have. As for high school football, only one other of the players (incidentally, one of the group Life pictured) lost some teeth in high school competition."

Father Joyce said "it is difficult to find justification for the gross misrepresentation and the false impression created by a publication which prides itself upon an accurate portrayal of American varsity players are still smiling life and institutions."

Top Scholastic Leagues Play Important Tiffs

HARRISBURG, Oct. 2 (AP)—Pennsylvania's schoolboy gridders head into the second month of the season this weekend with a schedule that should drastically trim the number of promising contenders.

Important tiffs are on tap in all the State's leading conferences together with a goodly number of traditional non-league battles.

Five headline clashes are carded for the huge Eastern Conference, between titanic eleven. Defending champion Swoyersville is expected to nose out dangerous Hanover Township for its 14th straight victory while West Scranton is a slight favorite to win number 10 in a row from the best Hazleton team in years.

Pottsville, winner of the Keystone League title and the East Penn's southern division, faces a big roadblock in a veteran Sunbury eleven in a game that will have a bearing on the outcome of both circuits. Pottsville is a one-touchdown favorite but Sunbury is primed for an upset.

Other features in the 53-school loop have unscored-upon Miners seeks its second straight Southville a slight choice over once-beaten Mahanoy City and Coal point choice over Hanover. Pow-Township favored to nip Shamokin in a close one.

A HEADLINED eastern non-league clash sends Lower Merion, beaten only once in three years will drop by at least two a quarter against a free-scoring Easton team that won its first two games.

Lower Merion, on the basis of its tie the past week with unbeaten Ridley Township, is a one-point favorite.

Up in the northwest Section II Conference Cory is expected to extend Franklin's long winning streak while Warren is favored over Oil City.

Seventy-five percent of last week's favorites came out on top to make the season average stand at 77.4 percent. Here are the choices in the other top games:

East—Allentown over Philadelphia, Bethlehem over Phillipsburg (N. J.), Ridley Twp. over Mastbaum Tech, Phoenixville over West Chester, Dunmore over Oliphant, Lansford over Summit Hill, Old Forge over Scranton Tech, Wilkes-Barre, Meyers over Larksville.

Central—Steelton over Coatesville, Bellefonte over Lock Haven, Harrisburg Penn over Milton Hershey, Chambersburg over Shippensburg, Carlisle over Waynesboro, Berwick over Mt. Carmel, Burnham-Derry over Danville, South Williamsport over Bloomsburg.

Owls Hold Hex In Home Park Over Syracuse

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2 (AP)—Temple's Owls wound up a week of practice grind today with a light scrimmage in preparation for tomorrow night's encounter with Syracuse, the odds-on favorite.

Despite the underdog role, the Owls will have in their favor a home stadium hex against Syracuse.

Most feared of the visitors is fullback Bill Wetzel, a 23-year-old sophomore, who finds himself atop the standings for the nation in yardage gained on the ground.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Atty. Gen. McGranery said today he has not made an investigation of the Nixon fund and that he has no present intention to do so.

A week ago, it was widely reported that the Attorney General had directed the Justice department to make a broad inquiry into the entire matter of outside income for Senators and Congressmen.

A White House aide said President Truman had asked for such an inquiry, but a short time later the aide said he had been mistaken that Truman never asked for such a thing.

Borough Hall Space Is Now Limited for Needy Itinerants

The welcome mat for the itinerant traveler has been removed from borough hall.

Approximately six months ago a room assigned to transients was converted into a police laboratory.

Chief James A. Laughhead said yesterday, "We don't turn those away who are needy if we have a place for them. But the only available room is the lockup and if that's in use then the only thing they can do is sleep on a chair upstairs."

"If the lockup is available, we just leave the door open and they can use the cot."

"IN THE old room we used to have a number of cots and when the place got real full they used to sleep on the floor. We're not bothered with bums like we used to be."

Sgt. Anthony H. Heriman said before the room was converted into a laboratory, Pottstown was known among the itinerants as a good place for a "free flop. They used to hit, a circuit which included Downingtown, Coatesville and Pottstown."

He said the room was polluted with bedbugs and had a foul odor.

Laughhead emphasized, "If we think they are really needy they aren't turned away."

In recent months Salvation Army officials have taken care of needy cases which they report have been turned away from borough hall and refused lodging.

Several Army workers have paid for lodgings out of their own salaries. They had wondered what happened to the policy of sheltering the derelict in borough hall.

Thus times do shift—each thing his turn does hold: new things succeed, as former things grow old.—
Robert Herrick.

Make Room for Hildale!
DASATER struck at a new segment of Pottstown this week.

This time the hand of Fate turned thumb down on the Hildale homes. The edict to 700 persons was: You're about to lose the roof over your heads!

The sad news came about when the Federal government said it was about to abandon the homes in Lower Pottstown. The Public Housing authority offered to turn over the homes,
land and all, to the Montgomery County
Housing authority.

The county authority, which has operated the Hildale homes for many years, said "No go!" It didn't want the gift. It would cost too much to maintain the project, was the authority's excuse.

The Hildale homes project "made"
money for the government under direction of the local authority. But the Hilddale homes were of the temporary type.
They were not erected with any thought of permanency. Their flimsy construction now is about to cost a lot of money to maintain.

First cost will be expenditure of much money to eliminate fire hazards in some of the homes. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ordered fire walls built in some of the homes after a disastrous blaze pointed up danger to lives in the flimsy structures.

The Hildale homes were built during World War II as "temporary" housing for defense workers. The original order said the homes would be torn away at the end of the defense period.

But an executive directive of President Truman on Sept. 1, 1951, extended the life of the "temporary" homes until July 1, 1953.

Possibly another executive order could slay the later execution. But it's illegal for the Public Housing authority to tenant the homes after July 1, 1953.

What can be done to save the homes of the people now living in Hildale?

First, the Montgomery County Housing authority should be convinced it should take over the homes, at least until new dwellings could be found for the tenants.

Upkeep of the "temporary" homes at this time probably is prohibitive because of their flimsy character.

Cost of upkeep probably will increase as time passes. Some of the homes are of construction little better than papier mache.
Mischievous children have been known to tear down outside walls with their fingers!

But the Montgomery County authority certainly cannot be heartless enough to throw the tenants out into the street.
There's no room for them anywhere in Pottstown now. Maybe later, when Penn Village completes its addition, room may be found for some of the families.

The Montgomery County Housing authority could arrange an orderly disbursement of the tenants. Possibly in the next six or eight months, the housing shortage
here may be alleviated.

Looking backward, it becomes more apparent every day from fortunate Pottstown was in insisting the Hemlock row houses were not to be razed by the Montgomery
County Housing authority a year ago.

Pottstown, too, was fortunate to insist on low cost housing. It was lucky there was a demand for an addition to the Penn Village homes.

There is a demand for low cost housing.
There will be more of a demand when the Hildale residents are forced to seek refuge away from Lower Pottstown. There is a great demand for rental homes.

Pottstown should welcome the Hilddale unfortunate into its confines. Most of the Hildale persons work in Pottstown's mills. They would pay Pottstown taxes.

Civic groups should plan now to accommodate the Hildale unfortunate. Pottstown cannot turn these people away from its door.

'Businessman' Wants Policeman in Limerick

Limerick Needs Cop
To the Editor: I wonder why Limerick township doesn't have a policeman. It is one of the largest townships in upper Montgomery county and its population is growing rapidly.

If supervisors feel the township can't afford a fulltime cop then I believe they could band together with one of the other townships.

Why not hire a fulltime policeman between Limerick and Upper Providence townships? Or why couldn't Lower Pottsgrove, Limerick and Upper Providence put on a two-man force?

There are numerous business establishments in Limerick and Linfield which should get closer police protection. There were suspicious characters hanging around my place the other night.

I can't prove they meant any harm, but you never can tell. I think we need closer police protection.

Air Is Beneficial
To the Editor: Your series about all these young, peppy grandmothers confirms what I've thought ever since I came to town—there's something about this Pennsylvania Dutch atmosphere that makes people live longer and more energetically.

As a faithful reader of the obituary columns, I've noticed that it's practically an everyday affair for people to die in their late 70s or early 80s.

One of my favorite recollections is about the man who died around 95, and then only because he suffered a heart attack while he was chopping down trees!

Anyway I'm doubly convinced now that there's something in the air around this countryside that's darned beneficial.

I didn't expect to stay around here so long when I came a few years ago, but if the fresh Pottstown air is going to make me live longer, I might as well settle down for a long and healthy life.

Pottstown CONVINCED

Likes Rose Garden Plan
To the Editor: I am so glad there are some public spirited citizens in Pottstown who are interested in beautifying the town.

To an apartment dweller, it will be a great treat to be able to walk around in a rose garden. I think the Memorial hospital is to be commended for giving the ground for such a garden.

I understand the Rose society needs some help to buy roses. Why not a Rose Week?

I have a dollar I will gladly chip in toward a bush.

WASHINGTON Ike Tactics Include Korean War Question

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The Eisenhower forces feel that they have won a major campaign victory by their tactics of drawing the legalistic but politically impractical Dean Acheson into the debate of "Who got us into the Korean war?"

Even more than the issues of corruption and the high cost of living, according to nationwide samplings of sentiment, the 120,000 casualties already suffered in this "police action" and the prospective dispatch of more boys to this far-off peninsula may determine the outcome on November 4.

It is noteworthy that Ike himself shifted his strategy so as to highlight this question, largely under the influence of the Dewey-Dulles group, which looks upon Asia as the major foreign problem. At first it perplexed and pained other advisers, who had urged that Eisenhower concentrate on Europe and the Middle East, which they regard as more vital to national security and world peace. Moreover, there are few Asiatic voters in the US.

But Eisenhower himself turned down this proposal. For one thing, the Far Eastern difficulties are associated peculiarly with Truman-Acheson diplomacy. Secondly, he believes that their record here is more vulnerable than their policies in Western Europe. As former Chief of Staff and SHAPE commander, he should be in a position to know.

RESPONSIBILITY: A forthcoming Eisenhower speech will deal in detail with Acheson's charge that he must share responsibility for the North Korean invasion of our zone. He will reveal how Truman's military economies made it impossible for the US to keep a strong American force there, or to build an army of natives rivaling the war machine the Russians created north of the 38th parallel.

He will point out that the Truman national defense budget for the critical 1947-1950 period totaled only $48.1 billion, or about half of the amount requested by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, which Eisenhower headed for a while. During one White House conference, the records show, Truman said he would allow only enough money to maintain a "posture of defense," not the real thing.

In May, 1948, Ike reported to Truman that American strength in Korea had been so depleted that "it is doubtful if we can continue the occupation of that country." The Pentagon request for a minimum of 40,000 soldiers there was cut to 20,000. They provided only the barest police protection in this war-torn area.

Meanwhile, there was no attempt to organize, train and equip a South Korean defense force because of the lack of funds. This, of course, was the only program that would have enabled us to withdraw without making a vacuum that the Reds would have filled.

UN ISSUE: Acheson's attack on Ike also makes the United Nations a campaign issue, cheering the faction which believes that the US gives more than it gets from that body. This sentiment is strong in the Middle West.

The Secretary of State argues that, although he had dismissed Korea as of first military importance, he expected any invasion of that country to be resisted first by the South Koreans, and then by a UN force. He described the UN as not "too weak a reed" in opposing Russian aggression.

In the first place, as Ike will retort, there was no South Korean army for the reasons already listed here. Secondly, the UN could not have agreed to answer Truman's emergency call for intervention in Korea, if Russia had not been boycotting the Security Council in June, 1950. Had Stalin's man been present, he could have blocked any UN action. And even now, the UN gives us only "token" support in the "police action."

The Voice of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Broadway Notebook—
PEGGY LEE's ex-husband, Dave Barbour, is flirting with a new canary—Louanne Hogan. Tommy Manville's Mexican divorce from Anita Roddy Eden didn't take because of a new ruling down there.

Tom may be in for a shock before he's quite rid of his Number Nine. The much publicized and immensely wealthy scion of an old, socially prominent family reconciled with his wife last week as a direct result of the morals investigation. He was scared into it—his name has been found in several of the "models" little black books.

Dan Topping and Alice Dawson, reported chilling, are doing the plush places again, and they look anything but icy. Sarah Vaughan's poodle haircut has given her a whole new personality—very oddiooloo. The John Randolphs (he's the actor) are lullabying a baby girl. Maurice Chevalier's current choice is Elyse Hunt of N. Y.'s cafe society.

The London demand is great for American performers who will be available Coronation Week, 1953. Part of Eva Peron's fabulous jewel collection already has reached the Paris market. Sen. Kefauver's singing cousin, Dick Estes, is wooing Barbara Dodd, a receptionist at NBC. Flamboyant blond Gregg Sherwood tells pals she is "through with Horace Dodge forever." She hopes to make it on the Broadway stage this Fall.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

FREDDY P., 2, is a blue-eyed orphan. "Dr. Crane, my doctor says I can never have any babies of my own," an attractive young wife recently informed me.

"So I have tried to persuade my husband to let me adopt some. I cannot find any available at the moment except Freddy."

"But my husband seems a little resistant to our adopting a boy. Dr. Crane, can you give me some arguments to help persuade him to my view."

The true parent-child relationship is a spiritual bond, just as that existing between husband and wife.

It is high time we intelligently analyzed this matter of parenthood, and realized that a common blood ancestry is not of importance.

THE THINGS that bind parents to their children are psychological attachments.

A mother cannot identify even her own baby from among the others in the hospital nursery until she has first been told which is her infant.

While it is psychologically true that the capacity for love is innate (instinctive), the specific demonstration of that love for any particular person, is a result of environmental factors. Love is a learned reaction.

Stated simply, this means you don't love your child because he is of your own flesh and blood.

YOUR LOVE is based on the ideas and thoughts and habits that you have woven around your baby, not only during the 9 months of pregnancy, but every minute thereafter.

Your love for the child is thus a psychological thing, entirely independent of blood ancestry or eugenic kinship.

The greatest love of your life is based on the selection of a member of the opposite sex of no blood kinship to you—your mate.

Choose your children, as you have chosen your husband or wife. Let the parent-child bond be a mutual and voluntary affair.

Hollywood

By EDITH GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 2.—Sparks really flew at a recent Lucille Ball-Desi Arnaz filming. Lucy decided she knew better than Hans Conreid how he should read a line. Hans didn't think she did, with the result that he probably won't be seen in any more pics in that TV series.

I hear tell that Vic Damone and Pier Angeli are talking via telephone all the way from Texas to Italy. It'd be funny if Vic got Kirk Douglas on the line, since Kirk is supposed to be visiting Pier while en route to Israel for "The Juggler." Incidentally, now that Mario Lanza is verboten as far as MGM is concerned, Nicholas Brodsky, who wrote "Be My Love" and "Because You're Mine" for Lanza is supposed to start turning out the same type tune for Damone.

DAVID SELZNICK personally interviewed 200 stenographers before selecting four for his office staff. He didn't say if he'd use them at RKO or overseas.

Dorothy Malone reveals that the long-time expected altar plans with Scott Brady are kaput. Glenn Ford was injured more seriously than announced, with a severe head concussion besides the cracked ribs. Universal-International will undoubtedly use doubles for dangerous scenes once again, since discovering that a little economy can be very costly. Lena Horne must be very amused to read in another column that she's remaining on the continent for several months yet. She and Lennie Hayton are happy to be back in Hollywood together; have been back for a week.

Major script change in "Circle of Fire": Mary Pickford was to have been widowed in the First World War; Barbara Stanwyck is a SECOND world-war widow.

SALLY MANSFIELD, the 24 Paramount is hoping will become a threat to Marilyn Monroe, is running around town with George Fisher. Sammy Davis and the Will Mastin trio were so well received on Eddie Cantor's first TV show of the new season, Eddie is talking of a regular spot on the rest of the shows. That $10,000 inheritance from the Atwater Kent estate is burning a hole in Greer Garson's purse. She says she's hanging on to it for "sentimental reasons." Oh well, it's only money.

When Walter O'Keefe asked a GI contestant on "Double or Nothing" what type girl he preferred, the soldier never hesitated when he replied, "one that breathes." They must expect TV to be around for awhile. Eugene Lourie just signed to direct 104 musical films.

How's Your Mind?

THE ANSWER, QUICK!

1. Does a sherbet contain more or fewer calories than vanilla ice cream?
2. What would happen if a candidate for the presidency died the night before election?

FOLKS OF FAME — GUESS THE NAME

1. He is a band leader and composer, born on Aug. 29, 1899, in Washington, D. C. At 17 he got a job with a society orchestra, but success didn't come easy and he had some hungry times before he assembled a five-piece band and was hired by a club. His was the first jazz orchestra to play in a regular concert series at an institution of higher learning, at Colgate university, Hamilton, N. Y. Some of the 22 compositions he played were his own. He has been called "The Aristocrat of Swing," "The King of Swing" and "King of Jazz." Who is he?

2. He is 17 years old and has recently been elevated to a throne. He went to school in Alexandria, Egypt, and Harrow, in England, and speaks English with only a slight trace of accent. He has learned to speak French also, and his favorite sport is fencing—at which his teacher says he is progressing rapidly. His people hope he will symbolize new greatness and become another great monarch for his kingdom of Jordan. What is his name?

(Names at bottom of column)

IT HAPPENED TODAY

Henry Hull, actor, has a birthday today, and so do Harry Noble Wright, college president, and Leo McCarey, motion picture director.

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?
1. The ice cream contains about 50 more calories a cup than sherbet.
2. As we do not vote directly for a candidate for president, the national committee of the party probably would meet, decide on a new candidate, and instruct electors of the party to mark their ballots for him.

Krigolos in Europe... Off, May See Kin...

★ TRAVELERS—Those footloose Stowe-ites, Mrs. P. Krigolo and Daughter Helen Krigolo, who left on an extended tour of Europe, are sighing for the good old USA. From the French city of Strasbourg, "the city of bells," the Krigolos postcard this department that they're "having a wonderful time on this side of the world. But we still prefer the US." They said they visited France for two weeks. Unfortunately they ran into a rainy season there. It rained almost every day they were in France. On the Pacific coast, awaiting an airplane hop home are the Stanley Stolars. The local folks (she was the former Pansy Goodyear) are back Stateside after Stolar put in a Navy hitch in Hawaii.

PREPARING for a trip to Europe at Uncle Sam's expense is Paul Potpinko son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew P. Potpinko, 361 New street. A private in the medical corps, Potpinko is home on furlough from Ft. Bragg, N. C. He'll be on his way to Camp Kilmer, N. J., October 17—and then expects to be shipped to Europe. He's hopeful he'll meet up there with his brother Aviation Cadet second class Andrew J. Jr., who is in Freiburg, Germany. Aviation Cadet, third class, Douglas K. Schwab, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Schwab, 114 Walnut street, is training as an air force technician at Warren, Wyo.

★ STICKER CAMPAIGN—Some local firms are using stickers on their envelope backs to remind Pottstonians of high taxes. One envelope came in here with a stamp on the back. It showed a picture of baby shoes. Over the shoes was an arithmetic sum. It said Baby shoes, $2.20, total taxes, 80 cents, you pay $3. Then it added "Who isn't a taxpayer?" That battle with the ice cube tray may now be won, if you think it's worth the trouble. Patented is a compound that prevents ice from sticking to metal, glass or other surface. Included in it, though, is some stuff called polychloroalkenopolysiloxane. The labor saving influence moves into another field. New type of ash tray is built on rubber-tired wheels, so it can be shoved more easily across the table.

TAX UTOPIA—Puerto Rico is heaven to tax-weary business. Since World War II, about 168 US firms have migrated there, attracted by the island's grant of tax relief to all new industries until 1959. After that year, firms will pay taxes in increasing amounts until they reach the full 20 percent corporation rate in 1962. If you're caught in a traffic jam or have to travel 20 miles an hour on a highway, blame it on the number of cars on the road. In 1920 there were only 33 cars for every 100 households; today there are about as many cars as there are households.

★ MISHANDLING TAKES TOLL—Improper lifting and mishandling of objects and materials causes the greatest annual injury toll among workers in wholesale businesses. A study by safety engineers showed that 37 percent of the accidental injuries were the direct results of mishandling. Physician's experiments are now reported to show that ultrasonic energy can be used in alleviating some organic diseases. One technique is to apply ultrasonic vibrations to the spinal cord of a patient. The nervous system is said to conduct the vibrations to other parts of the body and stimulate hormone production to combat disease. There's some danger: too much energy could injure the nervous system.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

WHEN The average person hears about bleeding from the lungs, he immediately thinks of tuberculosis. However, a number of other things can account for the bleeding which have nothing to do with tuberculosis. Some of these causes are pneumonia, severe infections of various kinds, varicose veins in the breathing tubes, heart failure, or tumor of the lung.

Sometimes, a lung hemorrhage is slight, appearing as streaks of blood in sputum and phlegm that is coughed up. This bleeding may, as a rule, be controlled without too much trouble by strict bed rest and a mild sedative.

More difficult to control is the massive type of hemorrhage, with a large blood loss. In this case, the doctor takes immediate steps to stop the hemorrhage even before he is sure of its cause. He can then make a careful examination and start the proper treatments after the patient is out of danger.

An extract from the posterior part of the pituitary gland has proved very effective in these cases. The pituitary, a small gland located at the base of the brain in men and animals, gives off several substances that control many body functions.

One of these has the effect of raising the general blood pressure, but at the same time lowering the pressure in the blood vessels that supply the lungs.

The drug made from this pituitary extract is one of the best methods for controlling hemorrhage of the lung. Given by injection into a vein, it acts with great speed.

Some patients may feel a little dizziness, slight cramps or nausea after an injection, but nothing more serious. Usually, a single injection is enough to control even severe hemorrhage, but if bleeding returns, fresh injections may have to be given.

This treatment will be of great help in preventing much discomfort and even in saving lives.

Our club will meet every Friday. At our next meeting we are going to review what our bird club did the past year.

We also elected chief editors and assistant editors for our Press club. They are: chief editors, Phyllis Smith, Virginia Messer, Binnie Tisher and Barbara Geiser; assistant editors, Clark Hughes, Kenneth Stroop, Bernetta Mest, Shirley Rhoads, Judith Foley, Donald Miller, Gerald Haring and Barry Rhoads.

Today Officer Kiggins and Jacob Wunderlich will visit our school. Officer Kiggins will administer the oath to our Safety Patrol. Later they will show us several films about safety.

Richard Rhoads went to Shibe Park Friday night to see the "A's" and the Yankees play. Larry Gerhart went to Williamsport to see his grandmother, Arlene Austin.

2d Grade Treated At Birthday Party Of Herbert Geiser

By VIRGINIA MESSER

The first grade is studying about birds. The second grade is studying about the Quail.

Melvin Fern brought five tadpoles for the aquarium.

Herbert Geiser, a second grade pupil, had a birthday party and invited the second grade. They had ice cream, cake, and candy and went on a hayride. The children there were: David Boyer, Dennis Foley, Joseph Tilling, John Feller, Gerald Lupold, Marjorie Seyler, and Eric Meeker.

Nancy Schaffer went to the mountains on Sunday. Herbert Geiser was at the Pagoda in Reading. Barry Templin also was visiting the mountains.

They are learning rhythm in music. The song is called Tappety-Top.

The children drew some pictures for the borders. They are: houses, apples and Humpty Dumpty.

The first grade is building a doll house. They have the roof on it and soon hope to paint it.

Fish, Tadpoles Exhibited In Science Classroom

By BINNIE TOSHER

Johnny Hasselhan exhibited crayfish in the fourth grade science class. Johnny caught them in a nearby creek.

Melvin Fern and Paul Schmitz caught tadpoles and brought them to school. The boys and girls also are collecting material to have a Pennsylvania project in the near future.

Tidal Waves Strike Island; 7 Drowned

TOKYO, Friday, Oct. 3 (AP)—Kyodo News agency reported 10 to 12 foot-high tidal waves today crashed across the southern shores of Hokkaido island. First reports said seven fishermen were drowned and 35 houses were damaged.

Hokkaido is Japan's northernmost main island.

The news agency said the lowering waves were kicked up by a typhoon which swept between Hokkaido and Honshu islands.

Most of the damage was reported in the vicinity of Hiroo, a village of 8000 population on Hokkaido's eastern coast. The waves washed over three sections of the town for about an hour starting Thursday midnight.

The fishermen drowned when their 19-ton craft overturned.

around the question. "Should the streets be rebuilt and constructed by the borough or should the councilmen attempt to sell the program to the public?"

GULDEN REPORTED the cost of the project per square yard, including the cost of drains, will be $3.30. He broke down the cost per running foot for property owners on either side of the street at $3.67 for a 30-foot street.

A 30-foot street is the average street in the borough. The cost to be included on the issue must have the borough for the 30-foot street also will be $3.67.

The total estimated cost for the program exclusive of tree removal and curbing was set at $850,299 by Gulden.

The cost of the plan per year to the borough at 3 percent interest with a semi-annual retirement of principal and interest was estimated at $62,459 for a 15-year period.

Total interest money for the issue was estimated at $187,163 or about $12,000 per year.

SQUARE YARDS of existing streets to be included on the issue number 68,902. Square yards of unimproved streets slated for the issue amount to 155,840.

The committee voted storm sewers, where necessary, will be spread through the program.

The plan drafted by Wells reads:

1. With the approval of the electorate, the borough will sell $750,000 general obligation bonds to provide a fund earmarked for street paving, construction and improvement.

2. The streets proposed to be paved, constructed and rebuilt are subject to the modification and approval of council, are shown on the attached plan and generally include 13.2 miles of paving, grading and reconstruction for existing dedicated or ordained streets previously allocated for paving and for the rebuilding of disintegrated existing streets.

This is not a departure from the prevailing policy of new street construction at the cost of a developer in developments begun since 1950. Paul P. Kohler, Second ward, which policy will be continued and said, "Right now we understand streets being built under the policy ings. Another felled at Lakeside Inn on Route 422 caused no damage.

THE POTTSTOWN plant Bethlehem Steel company, was without electricity for 10 to 15 minutes, according to H. Lewis Williams, works manager.

"Transformer trouble caused all electricity to be knocked out for a short while but it was fixed almost immediately," he stated.

Employees in the draftsman's room reported that lightning struck that part of the plant causing the power shortage.

In Boyertown, Murrell D. McKinstry, superintendent of the Metropolitan Edison company office there, reported that power lines at the intersection of Fourth and Chestnut streets were knocked down at 3:45 p. m. and power was not restored until 5:25 p. m.

The eastern portion of the borough below the railroad and the rural area to Fagleyville, Ringing Hill, Englewood and other fringes of those communities were hit by the power trouble, McKinstry reported. Boyertown street lights were not operating until late last night because of other breaks in the lines.

TWO HORSES were struck by lightning and killed on the farm of Harvey Dize near Harmonyville about 3:45 p. m.

Mrs. Dize and Mrs. Ruth Hancock said they were looking out of a window on the farm home when they saw a sudden glare of light and heard a loud bang.

In the field they saw two horses standing in a clearing shoot up into the air and fall to the ground, their hooves sticking upward.

The animals valued at $300 for the pair were covered by insurance, Mrs. Dize said.

Standing close to the horses under the shelter of a grove of trees were 18 brown Swiss cows, apparently untouched by the electrical storm.

Dize said nothing else on his 85-acre farm was touched by the lightning after his first inspection of his property.

The Reading office of the Metropolitan Edison company reported no serious damage resulted in the Pottstown area in its lines except for the breaking out of two transformers at the Stonersville substation. Electricity to Amityville was cut off by the transformer difficulty for a short while.

The only other damage to the company's lines in the Pottstown area was minor, according to the Reading office of the company.

The child's condition was reported as "good" yesterday. There has been no extensive paralysis.

So far, there have been 38 cases of polio in Chester county. It was reported yesterday by the Chester County chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

There have been two deaths reported, the second being that of a West Chester RD woman Wednesday.

Most of the cases have been in Southern Chester county. Two weeks ago, an outbreak of polio brought closing of schools in New London, Kennett Square and Unionville.
